BASKETBALL REVEALS SPIRIT OF W. U. Y. BOYS

Undaunted By Defeat

Westmont's basketball team started the season off on the wrong foot but after losing six games, finally broke into the winning column. Termed the "hard luck team" by the newspapers, the boys have showed splendid determination and a spirit of cooperation which is bound to put them ahead.

During the Christmas vacations our boys bowded to a strong Alumni quintet by the score of

CARDIAC ANNIVERSARY

St. Valentine's Day is not considered a legal holiday, and yet no year would be complete without this day, which has given excitement and pleasure to thousands and will undoubtedly continue to do so, as long as girls are girls and boys are boys.

It is very interesting to note that the patron, Saint Valentine, actually had nothing to do with the fourteenth of February. For in Rome, before the introduction of Christianity and the time of saints, many of the same customs were observed. For instance, at the festival in honor of Lupercus, "the wolf destroyer," it was customary for the young people to draw lots for partners for the year. Hundreds of years later the same customs arose in England and France, and then it was called St. Valentine's Day.

Boys and girls and even men and women find an unlimited enjoyment in the sending and receiving of Valentine cards. Some are very pretty, with their hearts, paper lace, and cupid darts, while others are of more hilarious nature, with funny pictures and gay sayings. But whatever they are like, they all have the same underlying purposes—a symbol of friendship, of love, of rememberance or the jest of a jolly good friend.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This organization was effected by the National Secondary Education Association and is controlled by a National Council of nine members elected by the Department of Secondary School Principals. Each local organization is known as a chapter.

Our school has been outstanding in this Society since the organization of the local chapter in 1921. The society has contributed to the progress of our school by rewarding scholarship and furthering character development.

The organization desires to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render services and promote leadership through school activities and to develop and mold a fine character. The candidates for membership must be, by the laws of the constitution, in the upper third of the class in scholarship. From this number not more than fifteen percent of the class enrollment are selected by the faculty to membership in the society. Because of the high standards, it is a distinctive honor to be selected for membership and underclassmen should look forward to the benefits and honor offered through this award.

PROLOGUE TO SPRING

O Wind, if winter comes, can Spring be far behind?"

It's always right in the midst of winter that a fellow begins thinking of spring and sunshine. Of course this has been a mild one as far as zero weather goes, but just the same the repetition of slate colored days makes one want to yawn. Besides, about this point, the overcoat looks its three years, Saturday is just ash-hauling day, and the heavy gloves will never look young again.

Agreed, time has raced merrily along, for it has been a happy and successful winter for Westmont-Upper Yoder High but the weather seems to lag. Change of seasons is a wonderful thing and right now the garden tools and seed catalogues look pretty grand.

IN OUR LIBRARY

In her book "Testament of Youth", Vera Brittain gives a vivid picture of the world war generation. She reveals the great changes in English society as she takes the reader from the atmosphere of staid Victorianism, through the tense, half crazed days of the war on to the neurotic aftermath.

Miss Brittain is, if possible, both a realist and sentimentalist. She seems torn between the desire to present an accurate account of those bleak years and at the same time produce a prose lament for her lost generation. The former justifies the latter to such an extent, however, that her deep bitterness and cynicism are excusable. This is excellent anti-war propaganda.

W. U. Y. HONOR ROLL

The second semester started January 25th, so there remains but three marking periods. That means that everyone has three chances to add his or her name to the honor roll this school year.

Those with at least two A's and the rest B's for the third marking period are:

Seniors—Naomi Beam, Anna Ferg, Nancy Cohoe, Elizabeth Thomas, Mary Jane Novotney, and Christine Smith.

Juniors—Sara Brickner, Rita Finkelstein, Peggy Mills, Leah Rodstein, Sara J. Waters, Ruth Rankin, Gustave Margolis, Evelyn Yutzey.

INNOCENCE ABROAD

France

Miss Kantner's English Class was discussing Guy de Maupassant's, "The Necklace." The teacher, attempting to show the class what steps might be taken to locate a lost article (Mme. Loisel lost her necklace, you remember!), asked:

"Did Mme. Loisel make any efforts to recover her lost necklace?"

Forest Price (after deep thinking): "Well, I suppose she went to the Tribune first of all."

Scotland

John Mluiarchik writes in a biography of Sir Walter Scott that one of Scott's best known stories was "The Lady of the Last Minister!" (No doubt, John, no doubt!)

THE SPOTLIGHT

Flowers for the month go to Mr. Ackley for his splendid word in organizing the Girls' Chorus. I overheard one of the faculty say it rivaled any college glee club she had ever heard.

Reading in my handbook I noticed that April 16th marks the date of the gym exhibition. The girls are already working on their part of the show. Two of the features on the program are a waltz clog and a Russian dance. It's something to look forward to.

Wonder if Mr. Robinson can cook—so did his civics class, I guess when they gave him a "kitchen shower."

Mary Jane Novotney apparently made a New Year's resolution not to walk to school. Guess Ted Boyer must have made one too or else she made it for him.

The male members of the faculty have decided not to give the minstrel show they planned to do. I'm disappointed that I won't be able to see our profs cavorting around in blackface.

Everyone misses Allen Jones. The classroom seems empty and the boys basketball team are lost without him. Hurry back, Al, the school needs you.

Our basketball team, termed the "hard luck team" by the newspapers, seemed to pick up a new spirit by defeating Indiana Hi after losing six games. They hope that this game was the start of a long winning streak.

Laura Yost won a three cents bet for learning "The Raven." She claims that she'll memorize "Gone With the Wind" for ten cents.

DIPHPHICULTIES OF A PIONEER PUBLISHER

A pioneer Colorado editor explained his difficult situation in the first issue of his weekly paper thus:

"We begin the publication ov the Roccay Mountain Cyclone with some pnew diphphiculties in the way. The type phounder phrom whom we bought our outphit phor this printing ophhice phaled to supply us with any ephs or cays, and it will be phour or phive weecs bephore we can get any. The mistaque was not phound out till a day or two ago. We have ordered the missing letters, and will have to get along without them until they come. We don't lique the loox ov this variety ov spelling any better than our readers, but mistaques will happen in the best ov regulated phamilies and iph the ph's and c's and v's and q's hold out, we shall ceep (sound the "c" hard) the Cyclone whirling aphter a phasion till the parts arrive. EXCHANGE COLUMN

"The Sun Never Sets On The Yodler."

Every month when "The Yodler" leaves the press twenty-one issues leave Westmont-Upper Yoder High School to take their places in the files of schools in five states and four European countries. The former are: Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, California, and Arizona; the latter being, Sweden, England, France, and Germany.

Ardmore, Pennsylvania, sent in their contribution "The Meronite" from the Senior High School in Merion, Pennsylvania. It has excellent pictures and headlines. We hope our exchange may be continued. By the way, Jack Lindeman was responsible for this.

Stutzman School's third grade certainly puts out a very commemdable paper every month. They are written by the small pupils who are coming W. U. Y. H. S. journalists. Keep up the good work, Stutzman.

Johnstown High's "Blue and Black" has certainly improved these last couple months, and we thank them for a good typist, Judy Kaminsky.

Southmont's "Panorama Jr." stall put out a very excellent Christmas issue. The Christmas story was well illustrated and well written. It certainly deserves a star.

YODLER THANKS FRESHMEN

The Yodler staff is indebted to the Freshman class for so generously foregoing its party in order that the Yodler might have the Valentine Dance on February 13th.

STUDENTS CARRY ON INTERNATIONAL CORRESPONDENCE

Some of the pupils in Mlle. Kantner's classes have received letters from their French correspondents. These letters prove very interesting, as they come from the different districts in France. Along with the letters, pictures and other fascinating things often arrive. Most of the inquiries made by these young French people concern school life, New York City and Hollywood.

French students seem to carry very heavy schedules as shown by the scholastic program of one young girl who studies French, English, geometry, algebra, chemistry, physics, history, geography, drawing, and sewing. In France the weekly holiday is Thursday instead of Saturday.

CLASSMATES HEAR FROM "SARA LOU"

Many of the pupils have received letters from Sara Lou Daley, who left here in December for Beverly Hills, California. She is attending the Beverly Hills Hill School. In the letters Sara Lou says that she enjoys the school very much and is having a happy winter. All her classes are held in large tents as the High School is being made earth quake proof. Sara Lou will return here in May.

FACULTY NOTES

Wednesday evening, February 3, the faculty held a dinner party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Millard P. Robinson at the New Ebensburg Inn.

The school is indebted to the contest vigilance of Miss Landis, Miss Canan, and Miss Josephine Williams for the splendid assembly programs this year. The trio are ever on the look out for program material.

In the absence of Miss Josephine Williams, mathematics instructor, Mr. A. G. Montgomery, taught in her place for a few days. Miss Williams was unable to attend school because of a severe cold.

ART DEPARTMENT LENDS LOYAL SUPPORT TO SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The art department, under the leadership of Miss E. Hirsch, has been splendid in boosting the school spirit by supporting the dances and plays with extensive advertisements and scenery.

Many of the fine advertisements, appearing at various times throughout the year, are the work of Charles Suppes.

In Miss Reiser's room at present are the finished products of several of these up and coming artists, as the portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Chief Justice Taney by David Segel and the "Covered Wagon" by Lillian Little.

J. W. YODER SPEAKS

At the regular assembly on Friday, January 29th, the students were addressed by J. W. Yoder, High School Visitor for Juniata College. His program was entertaining, informative, and inspirational.

MANY ABSENT DURING GRIPPE EPIDEMIC

Due mainly to grippe, many W. U. Y. students have been absent from school. The peak was reached on Monday, January 25, with eighty absent.

Among the absentees are Alan Alter, president of the Junior Class, who is ill with scarlet fever, and Allen Jones, who is in the Memorial Hospital.

YEAR BOOK DRIVE PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The Phoenician campaign has been a great success to date. In the past week various members of the staff have been contacting the home room pupils in quest of subscribers. The 1937 year book promises to be an outstanding Westmont-Upper Yoder High School publication with its numerous pictures and snapshots of the school. It is said that every student is in at least one picture and a great percentage more than once.

In a few weeks a similar project will be taken up by the Biology Club.

INTRA-MURALS STAGE THREE RING CIRCUS

Both Boys and Girls Help In Spring Exhibition

A circus with clowns, daredevils, beautiful girls, and strong men is being planned by the boy's and girl's gym classes and intramural clubs for Friday, April 16th. The girl's on their part are perfecting a Russian dance, several wand drills, and a special clog dance.

The boy's for their part of the show have made plans for several breath-taking thrills. There will be Tarzen's rival who will do a death-defying trapeze act, and the breath-taking leap over ten husky men by "King Mountain" Hunk from the Island of Borneo. Everyone will be held in awe at the splendor of the "dance of the sun god," a specialty of the famous dancers from the Egyptian Sudan. From this country also comes the great pyramid builders whose works defy death at every move. A feature melodrama with its characteristic villain and hero will be shown in a portraval of "No! No! BASKETBALL REVEALS

36-33. The following week, the team journeyed to Altoona to meet defeat at the hands of a veteran team, the score being 34-10. The very next night, on our floor, the Enghmen lost to Allegheny Hi, of Cumberland, Md., when a substitute sank a field goal in the closing seconds to play and brought his team out in front with a score of 28-26. In this game Westmont was in the lead up to that last field goal.

On the next Tuesday, the Westmonters lost to Johnstown High 23-14. With the score tied at 11-11 at the half of the game, the Johnstowners broke loose the second half holding our boys to three points while they gathered twelve. The following Friday, Ferndale was met and again after a close first half the Red and Gray went down in defeat, smothered by a fourth quarter rally by the Yellow Jackets, the final score being 32-17.

The following week-end saw Westmont journeying to Portage, where they were unfortunate in meeting the Portage boys when they were at their best. Sinking field goals from any place on the floor, the Portage team sank our team by a score of 43-32.

The next night saw our boys determined to win a game. They played Indiana High School whose enrollment is 1300 pupils, and defeated them in a very interesting game, marked by excellent passing on both sides. The final score was 37-30 in our favor.
