STRIVING TO REACH THE TOP

It would do us all good if we were to stop occasionally and ask ourselves, "Have I done my best to-day in every undertaking?" or "Am I doing my best on this job?" If you can answer "Yes," that is splendid; keep it up. However, if you are forced to answer "No," don't be discouraged, there is still time to begin.

If you are not doing your best, the place to begin is right here; right now. Be like the athlete who refuses to be beaten but grits his teeth and says, "I'll do my level best." If you do this in all of your work at home, in school, and on the athletic field, you will be forming a habit which will stand you in good stead when you try to get a job in later years; for what employer is paying his money to men who only half try? They want everything their men can give.

It is easy enough to give one's best efforts to football, or basketball, or track when there is cheering and excitement and many people but the difficult thing is to do one's best in the classroom when there is nobody cheering and no excitement. Here is the test that shows how strong one really is. If one is really strong he exercises his strength by doing the job right and after all that is the only strength that counts—the strength power to do right when nobody is watching.

Do you think that Lincoln or Edison or Carnegie reached their truly enviable position by working just hard enough to "get by"? Oh, no! They never were content with themselves or their products until they had made them as nearly perfect as they were able to make them. If you try, as they did, you are using your talents and will be rewarded; if, on the other hand, you don't try to do your best, you are wasting your talents and, like the servant who buried his one talent, you deserve your just punishment.

Let us, therefore, hearken to General Sheridan's words, "Never content yourselves with doing your second best, however unimportant the occasion." Remember that "anything worth doing is worth doing well."

Walter Byers.

OUR LIBRARY HONORED

Another honor for Westmont-Upper Yoder High School! The man who received the information concerning our individual use of this library was none other than Dr. B. Lamar Johnson, a representative of the Bureau of Education in Washington, D. C.

Our school's answers to a questionnaire concerning our library convinced this bureau that we have "Outstanding practices in the matter of library service." Wanting to learn more about it, they sent Mr. Johnson here.

Incidentally, this is an honor to Miss Margaret Greer, our capable librarian.

DEBATE AT JUNIATA TODAY

Today our debating teams go to Juniata College to debate several schools, and we certainly hope that they come home victorious.

The first "round" of this season's debating was held in the schools of the different teams competing. Our first opponents in this "round" were Ferndale; our affirmative team, consisting of Frank Bracken and Eleanor Fienberg, with Naomi Berney as alternate, stayed at home to debate on the subject, "Resolved, That an old age pension legislation should be established in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," and won unanimously. However, our negative team, consisting of Sara Elizabeth Dodson and Louise Geist, with Jack Zubrod as alternate, lost at Ferndale by one point. The next day they debated Adams Township; both our negative team at home and the affirmative away won. Continuing with the eloquent Franklin, the next day our affirmative team won away, and the negative lost at home. Such a surprise! Westmont and Ferndale were tied! So one morning at Central High School our teams met theirs—our teams became the champions of Southern Cambria County.

A few weeks later, they went to Ebensburg to compete for the Cambria County championship, and again won.

There has been a lot of hard work attached to these debates, but it is certainly worth it. However, without the aid of Miss Esenwein and Mr. Tomb, the teams would not have reached the top.

PROFESSOR YODER VISITS SCHOOL

In a recent assembly, we were honored by the presence of a visitor, Professor Yoder of Juniata College. Professor Yoder entertained the student body with two vocal selections, "Asleep in the Deep" and "An Irish Maid," before giving his interesting and instructive talk. The subject of his talk was the five points necessary for a successful career. The five points that Professor Yoder stressed were character, scholarship, honesty, will to work, and health. At the close of his talk Professor Yoder pointed out that the faculty of Juniata were striving for these five points; and that he would be pleased to hear that some of this year's graduating class intended to complete their education at Juniata. He also stated that if Juniata could not offer the desired course, the faculty would willingly help the Seniors select the proper school.

THE BOOK SHELF

As we all should know, Westmont-Upper Yoder High School has one of the best libraries in this district. We have all kinds of interesting and entertaining books both for reference and enjoyment.

When you are in a dull mood, go to the library and get a good humorous book that will entertain and amuse you.

"The Adventures of Don Quizote" provides enough entertainment and laughter to redeem a dull evening. If plays are preferred, the book called "Frightful Plays" by Charles S. Brooks contains two of the hair-raising variety. One of these, "Wappin Wharf," was given last year by the Senior class, and the other, "At the Sign of the Greedy Pig," will be found just as interesting and exciting.

"The Best American Humorous Short Stories" ranks very well in this type of book, and the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," which Irving has given to us, with its amusing character Ichabod Crane, provides a cheerful evening.

"Nonsense Novels" by Stephen Leacock, and Carolyn Wills' "Such Nonsense," together with many other humorous books found in our library will help you forget your troubles and pass the time pleasantly.

We should all be proud of our library and take advantage of every opportunity to use it.

SOPHOMORE ENGLISH CLASS MAKES SCRAPBOOK

The first period every morning some of the Sophomores go to Miss Esenwein's room to learn all about famous books and their authors, how to write prize-winning essays, and how to speak correctly. Some students think English is "dry," but all in all we've had a lot of fun this year.

While we were studying short stories some of the members of the class proved themselves promising actors and actresses, by acting in play-versions of "The Necklace" and "The Ambitious Guest."

After studying "Silas Marner" the class voted that a Silas Marner scrapbook be made. The girls as a group were to make one, and also the boys. The best book was placed in the library. Immediately the class set to work. Articles were written, corrected, typewritten, and cut out so as to look like newspaper clippings. Everyone tried to think up something unusual and attractive to put in. The ambitious girls gave such competition that a tie resulted. The object of the scrapbook was to tell briefly the story as one read through the book. Of course original things were added. Anyone who has not seen the scrapbooks and who would like to look through them, may see them in Miss Esenwein's room.

We have done things like this all year, so that the work has not seemed at all dull. As a whole the class has learned much and has had a lot of fun learning it.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Every day the business courses in schools are creating more of a stir and Westmont-Upper Yoder High is no exception. It was but a short time ago that such courses as we have today were practically unknown. Today we have one of the best, most modern, up-to-date courses that can be obtained anywhere.

This year our commercial faculty was increased by a very capable person, Mr. McIlroy. In addition to him we have Miss Landis and Mr. Engh. The subjects offered in the commercial courses are bookkeeping and stenography, in which there are thirty-two enrolled; typewriting, in which there are fifty enrolled; business arithmetic, commercial geography, commercial law, and banking. There are at present 121 enrolled in the commercial courses.

A number who are enrolled in the academic course are taking typewriting as an elective. We are noted for the very capable stenographers and office employees we turn out, and are sure we have many more yet just as good to be sent into the business world. Many are planning for business careers as stenographers, typists, office employees of different kinds, and various other office positions, while others are preparing to be teachers of commercial subjects. Some plan to complete their education with the completion of their high school course, while others plan to take additional schooling.

EVENING CLASSES HELD ON PATRONS' DAY

On April 17, the school observed a new custom—patrons' day. There were no classes in the morning, but the morning schedule was observed in the afternoon, the periods being fifteen minutes shorter than usual. In the evening the students went through the regular afternoon classes.

Parents and friends were requested to visit, that they might appreciate the school and realize the greatness of our school organization, and the scope of the work done. In the afternoon, the small number of visitors made us dubious about the success of the venture, but the crowds which visited us in the evening dispelled all doubts.

An assembly concluded the successful day with summaries of school activities, during which the lights of the entire school vanished, leaving everyone in complete darkness. Though many were frightened, no panic ensued. Due to those in charge everyone was entertained until it was possible to leave the buildings. Songs were sung and then the speeches continued. It wasn't long till there were quite a number of flashlights which gave enough light to enable everyone to leave; automobiles outside of windows also turned on their lights. Although the lights went out, it was no reason to interfere with the program and everyone was dismissed practically on time. It might be mentioned that a transformer burned out.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BEING PLANNED

As a final farewell to the Seniors it has been the annual custom for the Juniors to be hosts to the Seniors. This year the event will be carried on with the same enthusiasm as in former years despite a slight change in the program. The class of '31 may rest assured that the evening will be one of the most pleasant of their high school career.

Committees have been appointed and are now working diligently so that everyone attending will have a most enjoyable evening.

The tentative date is Friday evening, May 29. The affair will be held in the gymnasium which will be transformed into a ball room by elaborate decorations. Rhythm and harmony will be furnished by a "full-sized" orchestra.

As the complete program is not available because the Juniors are deliberating as to what is best to be done, further announcements will be made in the near future concerning the Junior-Senior hop.

SOPHOMORE ACTIVITIES

On October 15, 1930, the Sophomore class of Westmont-Upper Yoder High School was organized. Mr. McIlroy agreed to act as faculty adviser and we decided to hold our meetings only when some important problem was to be discussed. On October 16, 1930, we selected our officers. The nominating committee nominated three nominees for each office. Out of the twelve nominees the following people were elected to the various offices: President, Frank Howells; Vice-President, Mary Louise Walker; Treasurer, Sara Margaret Jones; and Secretary, Charles Miller.

The class dues were fixed at twenty-five cents. The purpose of organizing the Sophomore class was to discuss the problems that confront the class as a whole. At an election held on December 3, Louis Stock, Frank Howells, and Mary Louise Walker were elected to the Student Council. Another activity of the Sophomore class was the procuring of flowers for the families in which the following people died: Dr. Hannan, Mrs. Pollack, and Frances Dunn. The class also bought flowers for Mary Louise Hannan and Lillian Battell when they were ill.

CLASSES WRITE ESSAYS ON COMMUNITY SAFETY

Recently a safety essay contest was held in this school as in eleven counties in each class. The writing of it was elective. The Freshmen wrote a three hundred to five hundred word theme on "If Daddy Were Injured, How Would We All Suffer?" The Sophomores and upper classmen were assigned five hundred to seven hundred word essays on "How Our Community Can Best Promote Safety." Unfortunately, no prize was won in our school.

ATHLETICS

TROPHIES WON AT ST. FRANCIS PRESENTED IN ASSEMBLY

In a recent assembly, Mr. Sharp presented the beautiful trophies won at the Saint Francis Basketball Tournament. The William Diamond Trophy, awarded to the winner, is to be kept permanently. The Saint Francis Varsity "F" Club Trophy will be in the school's possession for a year, and can be kept only after being won three successive times. Jack Hannan was presented the trophy for the most valuable player. Gold basketballs were presented the individual members of the squad.

BOYS' BASKETBALL AWARDS MADE

At the close of the recent basketball season, Coach Engh announced that seven players and the manager would receive the coveted varsity letter. Included in this number are Co-captains Jack Hannan and Charles Kunkle, Mark Marshall, Hamer Wagner, Michael Kindya, Millard Kaminsky, Edwin Hartz, and Manager George Whitten. For winning the Saint Francis College Tournament, eight players who participated in tournament games and the manager were awarded gold basketballs. This list includes Jack Hannan, Charles Kunkle, Mark Marshall, Millard Kaminsky, Edwin Hartz, Norman Wilner, Frank Howells, Louis Foy, and George Whitten.

INTERESTING FIGURES FROM THE BASKETBALL SEASON

No doubt the following list of figures will interest the basketball fans. This record was kept by Frank Bracken, team scorer.

The column marked "Fouls" is the number of personal fouls called on each player.

Player	F. G.	Fouls Out of	Fouls	T'l Pts.
Kunkle ..	89	34—52	20	212
Hannan ..	79	15—36	40	173
Marshall .	51	25—60	45	123
Kaminsky	44	14—41	41	102
Kindya ..	28	12—23	9	68

Oppon'ts	179	139—313	200	497

LARGE TRACK TURNOUT

About thirty ambitious track candidates turned out for the initial track practice April 13. The team is rather handicapped by the lack of a good practice ground. Most of the material is inexperienced, Ronny Peel being the only candidate to have won a track letter. The interest this year is the greatest shown in the sport, and with the completion of the new field, Westmont-U. Y. can well be expected to play a prominent part in this sport. The candidates are capably coached by Mr. Engh, Mr. Wolf, and Mr. McInay, who have all had experience of some sort in this line.

A definite schedule has not been decided upon as yet, but at least two meets will be entered. As usual a team will be entered in the annual city meet. Last year Westmont-U. Y. placed third in this contest. Since the county meet and the University of Pittsburgh meet comes on the same day, it has not been definitely decided which to enter.

WESTMONT HI-Y TEAM ELIMINATED FROM BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

The Ferndale and Cochran Hi-Y basketball teams were returned winners in the basketball tournament conducted at Ferndale. On Monday, April 13, Ferndale defeated Johnstown Central High in the final round of the senior division, 22 to 14. In preliminary games Westmont-U. Y. lost to Central 30 to 21, and Ferndale defeated Southmont, 20 to 6.

Cochran copped the junior title by setting back Benscreek and Joseph Johns.

Westmont-Upper Yoder was ably represented by Hannan, Marshall, Kunkle, Foy, and Howells.

Our Hi-Y is priming itself for the next interclub activity, which is a volleyball tournament. Also a tennis challenge from the Ferndale club is being considered.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL LETTERS TO BE AWARDED

Now that the girls have gone through a very successful basketball season, they are looking forward to their rewards, the gray sweaters with the red U.W.Y. The girls receiving letters are Captain Elsie Minchau, forward; Charlotte Brickner, forward; Anna Marie Schneehage, center; Virginia Eckel, side-center; Agnes Sobditch, guard and side-center; Louise Kyler, guard; and Mary Catherine Swank, guard and center. The girls want to take this opportunity to thank Miss Elizabeth Greer for her work with the team.

GIRLS' CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

April Meetings

During the last few months the Girls' Club has been very businesslike in their meetings. The meetings were mostly discussion of the Kiski Conference, Girl Reserve rings, and the mother and daughter banquet. It has been voted that two delegates should be sent to Kiski Conference every other year.

On Friday, April 10, a number of girls attended the mother and daughter banquet; fourteen of the girls received Girl Reserve rings. On April 9, the Girls' Club had their election of officers for the coming year. The officers elected were: President, Elizabeth Kyler; Vice-President, Ann Mary Waters; Secretary, Jane Townsend; Treasurer, Mary C. Swank; Social Service, Louise Kyler; Program, Jean Stitt; Council Representatives, Sara M. Jones and Louise Berkebile; Social, Anna Stenger.

GLEE CLUBS COMPETE AT STATE COLLEGE TOMORROW

Tomorrow the Glee Club will go to Penn State to compete with the winners of the other sectional contests. The winner of this contest at Penn State will go to Altoona, there to compete for the State Championship.

The Mixed Glee Club will sing "The Meeting of the Waters," an old Irish melody.

The Girls' Glee Club will sing "Nina."

Miss Gray has very capably led us through the victories at Johnstown High and at Ebensburg. We hope very much to be able to win some of the events which will entitle us to compete for the State Championship.

BIOLOGY CLASSWORK AND CLUB ACTIVITIES

The biology classes have been doing very interesting work this year. Some of the most interesting topics that have been studied this year are: living things in relation to their environment and to each other, life processes in living things, response in plants and animals, and reproduction and classification.

Extra work, such as hunting for protozoa and other microscopic animals, and the study of ferns, mosses, and lycopoda has also been done by many of the classes.

There are usually two evenings a week set aside for biology club. On these evenings we either go for a field trip or stay in the classroom, where Miss Canan describes many types of plants and animals, and the students work with the material that Miss Canan has in her collection. When the club goes for a field trip, Miss Canan points out the characteristics of plants and animals that have been studied in class. During the spring most of the attention is given to recognizing spring wild flowers and birds while on field trips. There will also be additional Saturday morning classes this spring for bird and flower study.

SENIORS PLAN FUN NIGHT FOR MAY 8

No Senior Play

Is everybody happy? Well, if you're not, you will be after attending the Seniors' big Fun Nite, or shall we call it a friendly whopee party?, on Friday, May 8. The sophisticated play night has given way to this new form of entertainment. It does not merely consist of one event, but of a number of skits and different sorts of amusement. Don't be shocked if you see your brother Senior costumed as anything from "a big, black man from the South" to a graceful ballet dancer. You know that true things are stranger than fictitious ones.

The Seniors are diligently working to prepare a Fun Nite that will raise the lowest spirits. Come in low and your upper class friends will have you shifted into high before many of the evening hours have flitted by. Are you coming? If you are, then you have a surprise awaiting you. Now is the time to mark May 8 in red on your calendar.

BIG FIGHT IN BOYS' CLUB

Sophomores Conduct Program

Sorry to excite you—it was no fight, but it was a good boxing match between Al (Big Bifo) Pollack and Audie Erdmann. "Big Bifo" Pollack first gave an exhibition of his method of training. Girls, you never could or will be able to skip rope like Al Pollack; that boy is a whiz at skipping rope. When the first gong sounded they both dashed from their respective corners. The first few seconds were quite fast, but there they both fell back into sparring style. The first round ended with both boys in good humor and no feelings hurt. The second round was likewise very slow. But at the gong of the third round both boys were at it. "And how!" "Bifo" got in quite a few at the jaw. "K. O." was defending himself admirably. The high spot of this round was where Mr. McIlroy, the referee, got mixed up in the fight. He was breaking a clinch but before he could move out of the way, why he was intercepting blows. Both boys ended in fine style, although "Big Bifo" could have stood a few more rounds. "K. O." could still stand up.

The Sophomores gave this entertaining program, which included two songs by the Sophomore quartet. The members of the quartet were John Henneke, George Lewis, Norman Wilner, and Clyde St. Clair. They sang "School Days" and "Workin' on the Railroad." Don Hamilton gave a piece of poetry and Pierson Wainger gave a humorous reading entitled "Some Psalm," which concerned a Ford.

FIRE DRILLS TIMED

Now and then, when we least expect to be disturbed, we hear four loud rings. This is not a signal for talking to begin, as some of us seem to think, but a signal for all talking to cease. It is a signal for windows to be closed, and for the assigned leader of each room to lead the way out of the building with the rest of us following quickly and orderly behind him.

On Thursday, November 13, 1930, at 2:35 P. M., we had our first fire drill this term. The north door was emptied in 78 seconds; the south door in 60 seconds; and the center door in 60 seconds.

Our second fire drill came on Friday, January 30, 1931, at 2:30 P. M. The north door was emptied in 90 seconds; the south door in 80 seconds; and the center door in 95 seconds. As soon as we were in the school and seated again we heard the signal for the fire drill repeated. This time the north door was emptied in 55 seconds; the south door in 50 seconds; and the main door in 50 seconds!

Tuesday, April 14, 1931, at 1:00 P. M. was when we had our third fire drill. The north door was emptied in 55 seconds this time; the south door in 47 seconds; and the main door in 78 seconds.

SENIORS PREPARING YEARBOOK

To Be Published In Latter Part of May

When April showers are helping the May flowers, and May dates and May events are being discussed, the Seniors are engaged in forming the yearbook, "The Phoenician." The comparison with April is derived from the fact that during this month the twelfth graders further the formation of a book which is published in the latter part of May.

The staff as announced in last month's "Yodler" has cooperated splendidly and has now completed the bulk of its work. Two new members, Miriam Hunter and Leanore Shaw, have been added to the staff, the former to the typing department and the latter to the art corps.

As to the work of the staff, it is quite appropriate to quote Miss Esenwein, the faculty adviser, and Frank Bracken, editor-in-chief, "Due to a well-chosen staff, which is willing to work accurately and diligently, and to cooperate so well, the 'Phoenician' work has moved along rapidly. In fact, it has progressed easier and more efficiently than in former years." All reports seem to point to ultimate success for "The Phoenician."

The theme and color scheme are new and certain to please. It is a modern production throughout, but not modernistic to the extremity of gaudiness or cheapness. "The Phoenician" this year will be a volume of which we may all be proud, a dignified yet simple annual dedicated to one whose life reflects the afore-mentioned qualities of dignity and simplicity.

When asked to buy one of these annuals, do not buy for the mere sake of purchase, but for its genuine value—the memories it will bring to you many years hence, the beauty of the volume itself, the respect to the class of '31 which is graduating and setting out into the world. We want "The Phoenician" to be a living publication in each student's hands, not a shelf-worn book in one home out of every ten. "The Phoenician" is as attractive as we can contrive. We have done our share. Will you do yours?

BUDGET DUE!!!

Our school budget is only the small amount of fifteen cents a month. You should pay it regularly, for when your budget is not paid it is extremely hard for the paper and other activities for which the budget is needed. Most of you can spare a nickel every week instead of spending it for a bar of candy. We do not want to deprive you of your candy, but just tell you that you should pay your bills first. If you can't pay your budget, that is a different thing and an allowance will be made, but most of you can pay but just won't.

The reason that there are no pictures in this issue is that there is no money to have cuts made. If your budget had been paid regularly, there would have been money for cuts for this issue. Please pay all of your budget.

Dodson: Don't you like your college pudding?

Geist: No, I'm afraid there is an egg in it that ought to have been expelled.

Mortie: Whenever I see you I think of Gurley.

Mack: But I'm not a bit like Gurley.

Mortie: Yes, you are; you both owe me ten dollars.

Visitor: Why were you sent to prison, my young fellow?

Convict: For theft in a hotel.

Visitor: Were you the proprietor or just an employee?—Wow!

Louise: Gee, what big feet that puppy has.

Eddie H.: Yeah, he's gonna be a police dog when he grows up.

Mrs. Newwed: I wonder why we can't save anything.

Mr. Newwed: The neighbors are always doing something we can't afford.

Read: Why should I buy a piece of property when I'm single?

Zubrod: Why, so you can mortgage it when you're married.

Vera: Did Bloofus ever find out who stole his Austin?

Ada: No one stole it; his kid had taken the tires off and was running it around his train track.

Doc Wash: So you went to the hospital for an operation. What did the doctor get out of you?

Rastus: A new auto!

Kunk: What do you think of our stadium?

Bill Lewis: It is certainly wonderful. And now I would like to go through the curriculum. They say you have a fine one here.

Kay: What did Effie Vessent say when she found her hair turning gray?

Eckel: Oh, she laughed till I thought she'd die.

He: Your fiance stutters quite a bit, doesn't he?

She: Yes, but it doesn't matter. After we are married he won't have a chance to say anything anyway.

Mrs. Hot Stuff: I'm trying to find a face powder that can't be kissed off.

Mr. Hot Stuff: Won't you put me in charge of your proving grounds?

Reese: When Spinelli saw the enemy coming he turned and ran. I call that cowardice.

Curt: But you don't understand. Spinelli told me he remembered the earth is round, and he intended to run around and attack the enemy from the rear.

Mr. Snobly: I don't believe in letting dogs ride on street cars.

Lady (With poodle in arms): Well, don't growl, and they won't notice you.
