HALLOWEEN PRIZES WON BY W.U.Y. BANDS

New Group Organized

The three bands of Westmont-Upper Yoder district, the Bugle and Drum Corps, the High School Band, and the new Junior Band, have started the year off with a bang, having won prizes amounting to $63. The High School Band won $25 in the Halloween parade in Westmont, and the Bugle and Drum Corps received $8, plus $30 which they won in the big parade down town.

A Junior Band, which will be the future high school band, has been formed by the members of the Westmont-Upper Yoder System, with Billy Woods, of Elm School, as the drum major. In order to become a member of this band, an examination must be taken. Mr. Horner, the director of this group, claims they are getting along famously. Their practises are held every Saturday at the Price Memorial Field, from 10:30 till 12 o'clock.

The High School band is planning for their annual Band Concert, to be held on Monday evening, December 14. The program will consist of a number of selections played by the band and solos by its members. The money received will be used to make the final payment on the new uniforms.

LANDON ELECTED BY STRAW VOTE CAST BY STUDENTS AND TEACHERS

Civic Students Conduct Election

One hundred-seventy four of the three hundred-thirteen students and teachers that voted on Tuesday, November third, cast their votes for Alfred M. Landon against one hundred-thirty three for Franklin Roosevelt, four for Norman Thomas, three for William Lemke, and one for Earl Browder.

The students voted negatively on the question of compulsory health education, one hundred-seventy nine against one hundred-fifteen. Two hundred-four voted negatively on the question of "Should extra-curricular activities be reduced" against seventy six. Two hundred-fifteen decided that they did not want the plan of the "Phoenician" changed against seventy who did. Two hundred-fifteen pupils decided that they wanted the fun of initiations in the whole school rather than have them curtailed within the organization itself, as seventy students wished.

The election was conducted by the Freshman Civic Classes, under Mr. Robinson, in order to enable them to get first hand information concerning the way elections are conducted. The form used corresponded in every detail with the regular elections.

Students and teachers were compelled to be registered or they could not vote. There were two polls at either end of the gym, one for the Freshmen and Sophomores, and the other for the faculty and Seniors and Juniors. Election booths were set up on the balcony, where seven or eight at a time marked their ballots. Nancy Berkebile and Mary Jane Maxwell were election judges. Jean Pierce and Florence Bigler were ballot box guards. Florence Salem, Elizabeth Kohler, Frank Kelly, and Betty Clark were assistants.

The polls were open from 12:30 to 1:00, and from 3:00 to 3:30 p. m. Nancy Berkebile and Elmer Rhodes were the first students to vote. After the election, Frank Kelly, Nancy Berkebile, Betty Clark, Elizabeth Kohler, Florence Bigler, Florence Salem, Rillie Lee Wright, and Nancy Jane Maxwell counted the votes. During the election students campaigned for their candidate by placing signs around the gym and on the black boards of the various home rooms.

The revised saying, "So Maine Goes So Goes Vermont" can be revised again, "So Maine Goes So Goes Vermont and Westmont-Upper Yoder High School."

TIME TO KEEP

Is this the appropriate time, the suitable place, the correct thing?

These are the problems which at some time, if not at all times must be faced. The high school student especially is confronted with them. A misstep may cause one to forfeit the companionship of his fellow students and so deprive him of the pleasures and advantages ordinarily derived from high school days. Preventing such a catastrophe is another problem to overcome.

After a graduation from the Elementary Grades when one enters the realm of the high school many changes will be found. The pupils are no longer regarded merely as young children, but more as grown boys and girls, for they are now dependent more on their initiative than that of their supervisor. To live up to these expectations, childish ideas, desires, and actions must be cast away and a more serious trend of thought be substituted.

When this has been accomplished, poise and friendship will be the ultimate results. With results like these such a goal is worth striving for.

TURKEY DAYS

The second vacation of the 1936-37 school year will be from the 25th to the 30th of November, and being Thanksgiving, will be filled with "sugar and spice and everything nice." The Senior class will hold a dance during the "Happy Days" to help work off the turkey.

MESSAGE FROM MR. SHAPPELL

Students come to school from day to day in order to develop their talents and abilities. This can be done best by maintaining a wholesome attitude toward school and school work. The good student enjoys his school work because he learns to solve many and difficult problems. The joy of living is based on the number, variety, and difficulty of the problems we solve. Unhappy must be the student whose work does not receive commendation or whose efforts are mediocre and constantly criticised. Let us all be engaged in doing useful things and our efforts will be rewarded in proportion.

Our students are showing a fine spirit of cooperation; a willingness to assume responsibilities and carry them out effectively. Such a spirit is bound to win both for the individual and the school. There is no limit to the amount of work that can be done as long as the students derive enjoyment and satisfaction from the work they are doing.

School spirit is nothing more than working and thinking as a group. That is why songs and yells play such a prominent part in developing school spirit. That is why a school develops such a powerful spirit when all the students express their enthusiasm for some one thing like football, school play, music, etc.

Students show their greatest interests in what we call our extra-curricular activities. The two essentials in any activity are whole-hearted interest in the regular attendance. In any activity where these essentials are lacking there is a corresponding loss in the worthwhileness of the activity. Since interest and attendance are so essential, let us all cultivate these attitudes so that our work will continue to be effective.

BOOK REVIEW

"I Write as I Please" was written by Walter Duranty, the Moscow correspondent of the New York Times who has been stationed in that city for the last sixteen years. Mr. Duranty speaks and understands the language like an native and is very aware of the political and social conditions of his surroundings. He is, in every respect, qualified to write this book which gives a clear and truthful picture of the present Russia. The book is not only educational but entertaining as it is written in the usual concise and vivid style of the author.

EXCHANGE COLUMN

NEWS, North-East-West and South, that's what The Yodler is and that's where it's going. Our paper is being exchanged with a lot of leading high schools of the state, and we are getting an idea of other schools and how their papers are operated.

Shady Side News is a paper that really rates. It's interesting and complete and carries that military note.

We like the picture idea in The Forum of DuBois, Windber Times, and Shady Side News of Shady Side Military Academy, Pittsburgh.

Johnstown High's Blue and Black deserves honor for being very complete, efficient and interesting.

Here's a criticism, may we profit by it, there's too much trash and nonsense" in our paper and not enough news to balance it. We've got a good paper and let's see fewer nonsense columns and lots of news.

Congratulations, Windber. We like your paper and especially your editorial page, Star Dust, Fashion Flashes, and Newssettes.

A star for the Tioga Times. It's interesting, clever, and will go far. Keep it up Tioga Street School.

We appreciate your criticisms and laurels State College, and we hope the former may soon be dropped altogether.

PUPPETS COME TO LIFE

The Tioga Street School's puppet show enterprise is slowly but surely getting under way. These shows, which the pupils themselves have prepared from books, will be given sometime in January in the gymnasium of the Tioga Street School. Using the books as guides, the pupils from the 7th and 8th grades have written the conversation. The most important factor of these plays is that the pupils are making their own puppets. Most of them show excellent workmanship and good planning. The money made from these shows will be used for improving the Library of the school.

JACK LINDEMAN MOVING TO PHILADELPHIA

Jack Lindeman, active co-business manager of the "Yodler", is moving to Philadelphia, Pa., on November 11, and will attend Merrian High School of that city. Jack will be missed by a host of friends who wish him success.

FOOTBALL SEASON IN REVIEW

After splitting even in the first two games, the wearers of the Red and Gray won two of the remaining games, the defeats being administered by Shade Township, Ferrdale, and DuBois High Schools by the scores of 13-6, 21-0, 21-7, respectfully.

On October 3rd, our boys met a battling, stubborn eleven from Shade Township, who proved to be a little better than our fellows thought they were and consequently our boys went down to defeat. They displayed their best technique in the third quarter when we pushed over our only score.

On Friday night, October 9th, the Hilltoppers met their traditional rival, Ferrdale, under the floodlights of the Point Stadium. After a close first half ending 7-0 for Ferrdale, our boys, weakened by injuries and tiring rapidly, were frowned on by Lady Luck, and Ferrdale, making the most of the breaks offered them, pushed two more touchdowns across in the last half, the final score being 21-0.

On the following Saturday, the Englemen defeated Adams Township High School 2-0 in a very close game. Playing in the hardest rain and on a sloppy field our boys presented a defense that was impenetrable. Several of the players suffered severe lime burns due to the rain.

On Friday night, October 3rd, the team journeyed to DuBois where they were, defeated 21-0 on a muddy and slipping field. Brown, shifty quarterback for DuBois, proved a little too fast and slippery for our tacklers and slipped away for two long touchdowns runs of 48 yards and 63 yards to put the home team out in front. The Red and Gray clad warriors out-played DuBois in every department, especially in their passing game.

On Saturday afternoon, October 31, Westmont defeated the Franklin Blue Jays, 14-7, in a game in which Westmont held more of an upper hand than the score indicates. It required our team only five plays following the opening kickoff to register our first touchdown with Emeigh place-kicking the extra point. In the third quarter a forty-six yard pass from Bezek to Caddy was good for another touchdown with Emeigh again converting. Franklin's only score came in the fourth quarter when their tight guard broke thru and intercepted a lateral pass and raced seventy yards for a touchdown. A line buck gave them their extra point. Last Friday afternoon our boys went to Somerset to play a football game and this week they will close the season by playing Ebensburg High School at Ebensburg.

GIRLS' CHORUS PLANS CONCERT

Anyone present in the High School on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday morning can not help hearing the beautiful strains of music flowing from the auditorium. This music is made by 63 girls in the choral club who have been working hard on many new numbers, two of which are "Three Blind Mice" and "Let's Sing Again."

Mr. Ackley, who is the advisor of the girls chorus hopes to be ready for a concert in the near future. He also hopes to have the chorus appear in various community programs.

The girls will wear red and gray pique uniforms, the skirts being grey with red tailored jackets and grey ascot ties.

THE HOLLYWOOD WAY

It takes more than beauty to win a movie contract. Hence, beautiful but dumb, which is out of style anyway, has no place in Hollywood. It takes that ever detectable trait, an appealing voice, poise as well as plenty of pose, and a willingness to work hard. Maybe being in the movies is something like going to school—it only looks soft.

Our rambling reporter finds that among the feminine movie goers, Robert Taylor and Clark Gable hold sway while in the masculine circles Jeanette MacDonald and Ginger Rogers stand paramount.

We moderns are more than lucky for the development of the movies for it certainly is a painless method of education. There is no denying that it is a delightful way to learn history, geography or study a great piece of literature. We are more than anxious to see "Romeo and Juliet."

It's surprising the number of people that use the movies as a clothes guide—oh, yes—overcoats as well as evening gowns. Why not, for as the Earl of Chesterfield wrote to his son (November 9, 1745), "For instance, dress is a very foolish thing; and yet it is a very foolish thing for a man not to be well dressed according to his rank and way of life; and it is so far from being a disparagement to any man's understanding, that it is rather a proof of it, to be as well dressed as those whom he lives with."

Out of 670 British cavalrymen who attacked their Russian enemies in the immortal "Charge of the Light Brigade", only 195 survived.

For the filming of "The Charge of the Light Brigade," Warner Brothers built a British fort about the size of four city blocks.

In order to avoid injury in the filming of battle scenes in "The Charge of the Light Brigade", actors were equipped with rubber-tipped lances and leather-sheathed swords.

SNAP SHOTS FROM THE "SALE"

When we unloaded we left the "lamp" in front of the Book Shop. Leah Rodstein was alone in the hall when the first six customers arrived—Barbara Murdock tried to persuade a size 54 woman that a size 16 dress was too small—Gustave Margolis played around with a civil war sword and tried to scare everyone.—Mr. Benthan, whom we christened "Navy", handed out Navy posters for souvenirs.—The bridge game on Friday afternoon, when business was slack, gave every one a bit of practice.—The men that were going to a wedding and came in for stove-pipe hats met with no success (no sale)—The joy that prevailed when we sold the "lamp" for fifty cents. (we were just about to pay someone to take it away.)—Rita Finklestein's chargin when she sold an electric clock for thirty-five cents and another woman came over and offered her seventy-five cents for it.—Each girl counted the money in the cash box after every sale.—The final closing of the sale on Saturday with a profit of $17.80.

TIDBITS

Maybe you've wondered why there are so many "Tarzans" going around the school. The reason is the Senior Class Play.

Talk about pep. The Hal-low'een Parade aroused plenty of enthusiasm and pep for the Franklin game.

Two of the three honor students in the Sophomore class were in room 203. Come on the rest of you home roms. Get busy!

We were pleased to see so many Freshmen at the Jungle Hop on Saturday.

One of the faculty was taken for a Junior at the registration.

From the remarks overheard in the bleachers, the team is certainly doing much better this year than last!

Bea: "Isn't that splendid, I just learned to drive yesterday."

Bob: "What happens when the leaves fall?"

Jean, a freshman in high school was asking her parents for everything in sight in French.

Alice, who was eight years old, listened carefully and then asked her sister, "You have Algebra too, don't you Jean?"

"Yes I do," she replied.

"Well what's Algebra for mashed potatoes?"

Miss Tarr: "Use the word 'triangle' in a sentence."

Suppes: "If the fish don't bite, triangle worms."

Barbara: "If that tooth were mine I would have it pulled out."

Doris: "If it were yours, so would I."
