

Attend "FUN NIGHT"

COMMERCIAL DEPT.
PRACTICE ANNUAL
STAGE PRODUCTION

Miss Landis Announces Cast and Directors

A play, "Not to the Swift", under the supervision of Miss Lydia M. Landis will be presented by students of the commercial department in assembly, February 24.

The plot of the play centers around two office girls of different character; one calm and efficient, the other inefficient and flighty. The efficient one gains success by meeting an important crisis with skill and management while the other fails.

The characters are: Mr. Wilmont, the boss, Bernard Rhodes; Bill, the office boy, David Shallenberger; Mr. Brown, typewriter repairman, Vernon Stiffler; Miss Foster, Florence Kaminsky; Miss Blake, Mildred Haynes; Miss Burton, Margaret Thomas; Miss Stead, Mary Lou Allendorfer.

The committees are: Properties—Chairman, Wilma Berkley; assisted by Dorothy Beam and Muriel Sell. Make up—Chairman, Jane Maley; assisted by June Schell and Gladys Shank. Costumes—Chairman, Etha Keafer; assisted by Dorothy Connor and Ethel Hunt. The play will be directed by Betty Lou Rinebolt with Anna Jean Drager as her assistant. Mary Anthoro is the script holder.

Chorus Discovers
Hidden Ability

Members of the Chorus are entertaining during their daily rehearsals. Hidden talent is brought forth and displayed with enthusiasm.

Reed Smith bravely started the performance with a piano solo; Flossie Bigler and Florence Kaminsky with a vocal duet; Priscilla Stanton, a piano solo; Gloria Davies, a tap dance; Jeanette Barnhart, whistling; Helen Blizovitch, a reading; and Annabelle Burns, with a piano solo.

The Chorus is waiting to hear Frances Hamilton, Flossie Bigler, Gloria Davies, and Betty Lou Rinebolt in a recently formed quartette. Wilma Berkley is practicing for a piano solo; Agnes Reid and Hope Suto, a vocal duet; Betty Lou Rinebolt and Mary Gilroy, a skit; Barbara Ruff, a tap dance, Cleo Jane Bennett, piano solo; Don Barnhart, a trombone solo; the boys quartette, a vocal solo; Carlyn Kunkle, a piano solo; and Florence Kaminsky, a piano solo. The highlight of the program will be a vocal solo by Mr. Ackley.

Dr. Gress Speaks
In School Assembly

Dr. E. M. Gress will lecture at the Westmont-Upper Yoder high school, sometime during March or April. Dr. Gress, head of the Bureau of Plant Industry in the State Department of Agriculture, will use as his subject, "The Wild Plants of Pennsylvania." He is one of the state's outstanding botanists, and while not lecturing, spends his time in the laboratories in the Department of Agriculture. In connection with his talk he will show the students some colorful slides of the wild plants of Pennsylvania.

Student Council
Sponsors School
Talent Night

The student council is planning a "Talent Night" to be held at the high school some time in March. The primary purpose of this evening of entertainment is to discover talent in the school, and to find students who would be willing to perform if called upon by outside organizations or at programs held in the school. The council also hopes to make enough money to clear several of its debts.

Any one who wishes to participate in the program may give his name to the student council representative in his home room. Then a committee will be selected which will try out the entrants, and choose those to be placed on the program.

Any student is eligible for a place on the program. Music, dancing, and reciting, as well as short skits and clever stunts are desired. The entertainments submitted do not need to be of a serious type, but humorous ones are equally useful.

Cafeteria Serves
24 Daily Customers

According to Miss Frances Witt, head of the home economics department, there was, during January, an average of twenty-four persons each day who got trays in the cafeteria. This does not include the persons who just bought ice cream or milk. Milk and ice cream prove to be the best sellers. There is an average of 60 half-pint bottles of milk bought each day and about three dozen of ice cream concessions.

The cafeteria is self-supporting. If any profits are made they are left to accumulate to buy equipment for the cafeteria. At present Miss Witt is saving to buy a stove.

It is a problem planning the meals as each item must cost only five cents. The weather is no indication as to the number of persons who will remain for lunch.

Miss Witt plans the meals while Mrs. Mame Morcret does the cooking.

Art Students
Display Many
Lines of Work

The art classes under the supervision of Mrs. Madge Boden Rose have been working on plaster carvings, all over patterns, and textile designs.

The work on masks has just been completed. Stella Frank made a very realistic mask of Joan Crawford with her long, brown hair, page-boy, and her finely arched eyebrows. A Puritan with straight hair wearing a tall seventeenth century black hat was drawn by Jane Berkebile. The Hindu, which William Friebe made, had a very foreign look with his brown mustache and beard, and head bound in a red and blue turban. Donald Matthews produced a typical Chinese face with yellow skin and almond-shaped eyes.

Lucy Frank painted a very interesting all over pattern of a little girl and flowers. The little girls in blue, on a white background, made a striking picture peering into the faces of the yellow flowers.

For her textile design, Jane Berkebile used a light blue-green for her background with orange circles and triangles alternating through a blue scroll—like pattern.

Mrs. Rose states that the next types of work to be taken up in her classes this spring will be poster designs, water colors, and oils.

Crowded Schedule
Ousts Debate Club

Miss Roberta Williams states there will be no debate club for the year of 1938-39. In an exclusive interview with the YODLER she gave the reason as lack of time. As there is now a larger number of students in the Latin classes than ever before, she finds it necessary to teach all six periods. Therefore, she has no free time which she can devote to the coaching of a debate club.

Committee Chooses "You Can't Take It With You"

After a diligent search, the seniors selected "You Can't Take It With You" for the class play. This play by Moss Hart and George Kaufmann has just been released for amateur production.

The senior play-reading committee, composed of Joanna Hager, Laura Yost, Lucy Frank, Wesley Rohrer, Robert Schramann, Robert Ideson and Bernard Rhodes, under the supervision of Miss M. Margaret Greer, had a very difficult time in selecting a play suitable for students of high school age. They read a group of some twenty plays before making a decision.

Many Girls
Find Sewing
Useful Art

The girls in Miss Witt's first year sewing classes have finished making pajamas and are starting on blouses. The girls in the second year class are permitted to make anything they want.

Seniors Retain Honor Lead

In the third report period the seniors continue to lead the school in scholarship as they have done the entire first semester. There are seventeen seniors on the honor roll. They are: Mary Lou Allendorfer, Miriam Barnhart, Jane Berkebile, Lucy Frank, Stella Frank, Joanna Hager, Frances Hamilton, Mildred Haynes, Ethel Hunt, Robert Hunter, Robert Ideson, Jane Maley, Robert Miller, Bernard Rhodes, Charles Slep, Reed Smith, Peggy Suppes, and Laura Yost.

The freshmen are next in line with seven honor students. They are: Jean Allendorfer, Josephine Anderson, Rita Bregman, Helen Brendel, Mary Ann Stiney, John Kohan, and Ruth Zimmerman.

The juniors take third place with the following A-B students: Nancy Berkebile, Elizabeth Kohler, and Mary Rankin.

Inclement Weather
It is not confined to one person or special groups of persons. February is a month of snow, occasionally accompanied by rain, therefore, inclement weather is to be expected.

Inclement weather should not be an excuse for tardiness, except for very exceptional cases. Usually students who use that excuse are the ones who are late three or four times a week. February is the birthday anniversary of two men who did not let inclement weather hinder their plans. Both literally and figuratively Washington and Lincoln had many stormy periods in their lives. Washington with his army at Valley Forge endured all the hardships of winter. Abraham Lincoln walked six miles one evening in a severe storm to return a few cents which he had forgotten to give to a customer. These men were truly great. Let them set an example for us.

If weather conditions stop us from performing tasks in school what shall we do out in the "cold, cold world"?

Library Books
To take proper care of these books ought to be an objective of each student. It is one which requires only a little thoughtfulness and consideration. Surely, this is not too much to expect, especially when one remembers that the books are the property of no individual, but of the school as a whole.

There are the habits of marking the pages, disfiguring the pictures, and the "abridging" of volumes. The latter habit is undoubtedly a selfish as well as an expensive one. Notes should not be written on the inside of covers. Many persons who unconsciously turn down the corners of pages to mark a place do not realize that eventually these corners tear off.

A few students remove books from the library without cards. Many valuable pieces of literature have been temporarily misplaced and some finally lost as a result of this careless practice.

Let us resolve to treat the library books as our friends. It is a mutual benefit that we do.

Congratulations Doris

Westmont-Upper Yoder for the many honors accorded you. Doris, in her own high school is proud to have you as a student. Doris, in her own words sums up her recent trip to Cincinnati to appear as guest soloist with Dr. Frank Simon and the Armo Band; "I had a wonderful time." Doris traveled by train to Cincinnati and resided at a girls' dormitory on the campus of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Last year Mr. Glover, the Armo trombone soloist, was Doris' teacher at the school, when she took a summer course. It was through him that Doris was introduced to Dr. Simon. The Sunday concert originated at Emory auditorium over station W L W and was broadcast over a nation-wide network of 42 stations. The huge auditorium was filled to its capacity of 2500 people. The four balconies added more twitches to Doris' already quaking knees. She played "Love's Enchantment" by Arthur Pryor. After the concert Doris was introduced to the 51 men and one woman who comprise the band. Doris was also awarded the Armo medal for distinguished musicianship. The best of luck, Doris.

The Time

The leaders in high school are to think of the future is now. Success is a habit which can be developed by anyone. Clear thinking, accuracy, honesty and tolerance are some of the requisites.

"You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." This can be applied to the school leaders. They are on top because they belong there. Naturally they will succeed in later life. All that has made a leader during high school years can not be lost so easily in later life. School is the place not only to learn the three R's but also to learn the importance of being a leader. A building without a good foundation would not last long. Think it over and decide to build your foundation now.

THE YODLER

In Our Library

"Last Flight" by Amelia Earhart is the story of the attempted world flight which took her to her death. The book was compiled by her publisher-husband, George Palmer Putnam, from log-books, diaries, and letters written by the famous aviator from all points of the flight to Lae, New Guinea. If the flight had been completed the book would have been called "World Flight".

The first chapters tell how she first became interested in aviation. It tells of the flight in which she became the first woman to fly the Atlantic, and of her flight across the Pacific; and her flight from Mexico City to New York, when people thought such a thing impossible.

The preparation for the world flight took many months. It finally started from Oakland, California, March 17, 1933. Her plane was made possible through the Purdue University Research Foundation.

After flying successfully to Honolulu, her plane cracked up on the take-off to Howland Island. The plane had to be shipped to the United States for repairs. But not despairing, Miss Earhart planned another flight in the opposite direction.

On May 19, they left Oakland for Miami stopping at Tuscon and New Orleans. Amelia Earhart left Miami with Fred Noonan serving as navigator. The flight continued to San Juan, and other places in South America.

They landed at St. Louis, Africa on June 7, and they proceeded across the continent to the Red Sea. As foreign flying is discouraged over Arabia, Miss Earhart had to follow the Arabian Coast to India. In Siam they were held up by monsoons which gave Miss Earhart and Noonan a chance to go sightseeing. After the monsoons let up they set out for Port Darwin, Australia, which was the fifth continent of their flight.

On June 30, they arrived at Lae, New Guinea with only two main stops needed to complete the world flight. They left Howland Island on July 2 never to be seen again.

In her last letter Amelia Earhart said that if her flight were not completed, she hoped it would serve as a challenge for others.

Birthday Book

The YODLER extends greetings to many W-U-Y students whose birthdays occur in January and February.

Those having anniversaries in January are: Audrey Hartley, Kathleen Kelly, Anthony Varcio, Anna Maksim, John Green, Bernard Biasko, Jack Francis, Janice Dunkle, Paul Alwine, Rochelle Davis, Lawrence Rosenberger, Miriam Beam, Doris Glosser, Naomi Glosser, Robert Kniss, Milton Kohler, Carolyn Kunkle, Mildred Kayat, James Martin, Dayton Naugle, Jean Ream, Floyd Ringler, Gloria Davies, Robert Alwine, Ruth Pierson, Clifford St. Clair, Jim Walter, Mary Emma Meier, Robert Horton, Betty Reid, Mildred Lentz, Fern Ringler, Florence Haut, and Robert Miller.

Score Totals 40-32

Allegany high school of Cumberland, Md. took their second victory of the season from the Westmont-Upper Yoder high school basketball team 40-32. The very smoothly played contest was carried on, on the Cumberland floor Saturday, January 21. W-U. Y. had dropped its first game by a score of 34-30 only one week previously on the hilltop floor.

Long set shots which found the basket with uncanny accuracy were the cause of the Robbiemen's defeat, just as had been the case in the first game. The hilltoppers were the smoother of the two teams in the passing, but the Allegany lads were "dead eyes".

Allegany led in the first quarter by a score of 11-6 and increased the lead to 18-12 at the half. By putting on the pressure in the third quarter, the winners jumped the lead to 31-17. This lead proved to be too great for the losers to overcome, although they were able to cut it to 34-31 at one point in the final period. However Allegany produced another scoring streak and the game wound up 40-32.

Seniors Lead
Girls' Intramural Basketball

The girls' intramural basketball has attracted a large number of the girls. At the end of the first half of the games, the senior team was in the lead with all victories. The junior team is close behind them, having lost only one game. The game between the juniors and the seniors proved to be a close contest. They were both striving to win, but the juniors came in one point behind the seniors.

The basketball tournament is altogether different from that of other sports as there is just one team from each class. These teams were selected from the candidates in the various classes by two captains who were elected by the girls and Miss Elizabeth Greer.

The girls on the freshmen team are: Betsy Trent, Shirley Mills, Hope Suto, Carolyn McGough, Josephine Anderson, Kathleen Reddinger, Rose Hunt, Agnes Reid, Bernice Price, Mary Ann Stinely, Gloria Ruff, and Helen Brendel.

The sophomores who made the team are: Helen Bezek, Marjorie Dally, Carlyn Kunkle, Kathryn Drager, Lois Long, Georgia Ringler, Helene Allendorfer, Edna Stock and Evelyn Bulick.

The juniors who were selected are: Jean Peirce, Nancy Berkebile, Lillian Bromund, Ruth Ringler, Betty Brickner, Lois Ringler, Joan Ogle, and Joyce Coppersmith.

The senior team consists of: Wilma Berkeley, Marian May, Helen Blozovitch, Betty Hammerle, Margaret Thomas, Ruth McCallum, Jane Maley, Julia Virus, Irene Swarney and Anna Jean Drager.

W-U. Y. Alumni

28-27 Marks One Point Win

After beginning what promises to be a very successful 1939 basketball season by defeating Somerset high school 28-24, the Westmont-Upper Yoder cagers took their second victory by stopping a strong Alumni quintet 28-27. A large crowd was present to see the contest staged on W-U. Y.'s floor.

The Alumni proved to be a very tricky and fast team composed of many notables. They kept the high school boys stepping to hold the slight lead that they steadily composed throughout the game.

The graduates outscored the varsity in the first quarter by 11-9. However, the tide was turned in the second quarter and at the half the varsity led 15-14. In the third quarter the school boys surged ahead to lead at the end of the period 22-18. The Alumni's rally fell short in the fourth quarter by one point.

Boys Plan Golf Team

A golf team is being organized in this school by Charles Slep and Mr. Robinson. Charles and Mr. Robinson have written to Pittsburgh to try to gain admission to the W. P. I. A. L. They have not received an answer to this as yet but if they do the W-U. Y. golfers will compete with Johnstown, Greensburg, Jeannette, and Latrobe teams.

Any boy who would like to join the team should tell either Mr. Robinson or Charles. There will be try-outs in the spring. Eight or nine boys will be selected for the team.

Sportsmen Want
Rifle Club

Why not have a rifle club for our school to compete with the clubs of other schools and the clubs of other districts? Some strenuous objections have been raised against this fine sport. Many boys are interested in the plan, so it would be a good idea to let the students vote on it. Some of those who would support such a club are: Bill Ferg, Clifford Clark, Fred Yanker, Dave Thomas, John Peel, Alton Berkeley, Evan James, Jack Davis, Dick Shaulis, Alfred Campdon, Bill Mock, Russell Heffey, Donald Hofecker, and Clarence Shaw. Support the Rifle Club students!

Franklin Defeats
W-U. Y. 31-25

Westmont-Upper Yoder high school's basketballers were knocked out of a tie for first place and into a tie for second in the Conemaugh Valley basketball league, by an untimely defeat by Franklin high school. The game was played Friday evening February 3, on the hilltop floor. The score was 31-25. The first game played several weeks before between the two schools had been won by W-U. Y. 24-19.

Friday's win gave Franklin sole possession of first place in the league while throwing the Robbiemen into a deadlock with Conemaugh for second place.

The Blue Jays forged ahead to an early lead, and after the opening point, they never trailed. They held leads of 7-3, 13-10, and 22-21 at the quarters.

Proves Easy
Hilltop Victory

The Westmont-Upper Yoder high school basketball team did not need to exert itself very much in order to carry off a victory over the Ebensburg-Cambria high school cagers. The game was played Friday, January 20, on the W-U. Y. floor. Only able to gather two field goals the losers collected 13 points while the tricky Hilltoppers were compiling 44 tallies.

The winners quickly got into stride and carried the first period 10-4 and gave their opponents only one point in the second half, which ended 16-5. The end of the third period found the Robbiemen leading 24-11.

Just Prattle

Two pairs of inseparable couples have recently merged into an inseparable quartette; Hopie and Verney, and Agie and Dave S.—so we've heard.

Betty Giles can't seem to make up her mind which of the twins she prefers; Emmet last year, Charles this year.

Maureen O'Sullivan created a new hair-do. For a typical example, observe Beverly Labe's cute little fluttering ribbons.

Ned, haven't you noticed the charming young lady stalking past the music room after school and keeping an ear cocked for hot trumpet licks?

Bob Allen (sorry, Mr. Allen) has created a sensation among the female worshippers of the big, silent, Lief Ericson—blonde type.

Mr. Horner, for the sake of the flutist, couldn't you arrange a flute-violin duet?

A certain sophomore in the estimation of the W-U. Y. sophisticates, is the typical smoothie-jitterbug.

Valentines are flying thick and fast between W-U. Y. and Somerset High School. A personal greeting is being planned by Jane Williams, Franny Hamilton, and Jack Sheesley for Guy, Vernie, and Mary of S. H. S.

Ruth Pierson is heavily weighted with Ferndale class rings, Hi-Y pins, and such; but she doesn't mind at all as long as their owner stays at her beck and call.

Gloria doesn't have to Hunt for Pee Wee. He waits at the south gym door every day.

An unusually large number of girls joined the Johnstown Junior Music league this year. After careful investigation, your prattler has discovered two handsome tenors and a Nelson Eddy-ish baritone also in the club. Now don't crowd, girls!

SCHOOL BUZZES—

man; Charles Kunkle, Jr., Freeman Fullerton, Jr., Harry Allendorfer, Curt Owen and Charles Lake, Jr.

The first student loan fund of $1,500 was raised in 1921. A street carnival was held in the Westmont Grove in order to raise this money. It was given under the leadership of Mrs. Harry Hager who was then president of the Home and School Club and Mrs. D. M. Stackhouse, chairman of the carnival committee.

The student loan fund has grown each year until it is now $3,200. This money is all in use. In all 25 students have been aided in securing and education. Of this number all have paid back their loans in full, seven graduate students are now paying theirs back, and six students are still in college.

Applications for loans are made to the Student Loan Fund committee, through the supervising principal and are granted on the basis of scholarship, character, and financial need. The members of the committee are Mrs. Harry Hager, chairman, and D. M. Stackhouse, secretary-treasurer, who have served since the fund was established; Willard E. Ackley, supervising principal, and the presidents of the two parent-teacher organizations.

St. Valentine and Sir Cupid have been doing a rush business between the upper and the lower classes.

EXCHANGE

In "The Bulletin" from the George Westinghouse high school in Pittsburgh we learn "There's a new fad that has all the lassies agog over the idea—ribbons. Twin ribbons signify a date; if they are of different color, you're without a beau; and if one ribbon, you have a steady boy friend. What next?"

—Scoops of Somerset.

Miss Roberta Williams

is the dark-haired one of the popular William's sisters who teach at W-U. Y. She brings back "the grandeur that was Rome" in her classes in such a way that, at W-U. Y., Latin is not a "dead" subject. She is also a member of the assembly program committee and an adviser for the freshman class.

W-U. Y. is her Alma Mater, where she was not only an honor student but a class leader. As a senior she was editor-in-chief of the PHOENICIAN. She received her B. A. degree at Pennsylvania College for Women in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

She takes an active interest in a great number of things. Her greatest hobby is reading—especially detective stories.

Mrs. Margaret Kantner McCready was graduated from Johnstown high school, where she participated in many school activities, such as Spectator staff, athletic clubs, and Foreign Language club. She answered her desire for language knowledge when she completed her course at Oberlin college, graduating with a small masters degree called Magna cum laude.

At W-U. Y. she is the adviser for the Senior Girl Reserves, a member of the assembly program committee, and an instructor of French and English.

She is fond of almost all sports, particularly of tennis, swimming, golf, and horseback riding. She is especially fond of dogs.

The excellent plays produced by W-U. Y. and Miss M. Margaret Greer are synonymous at W-U. Y. She is also well-known as the hilltop school librarian and German teacher.

She is a graduate of Wells college. She received her Master of Arts degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

She is interested in a great number of things. As a librarian, the underclassmen say of her "she knows everything."

Annual Party

Due to a conflict in extra curricular activities the freshmen will not give a party as in previous years.

"Nobody's Boy" Draws Crowd

"Nobody's Boy", a play taken from the book of the same name by Hector Malot, and dramatized and directed by Clare Tree Major, was given at the Central high school auditorium Friday, February 3, under the sponsorship of the Junior auxiliary of the Memorial hospital. The play was given by the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre of New York. The cast included a monkey named Pretty Heart, and a dog named Capi, who literally stole the show with their amusing antics.

The play is in three acts and the plot centers around a boy named Remi. He has been living in poverty with Mother Barberin, whom he supposes to be his real mother. However, when Jerome, her husband, returns after a ten year absence, Remi learns that he is a founding. Jerome gives him to a traveling entertainer named Vitalis, who has a dog and a monkey. After a few months in which Remi and Vitalis wander about, Vitalis is unjustly put in jail for two months. During the time of his imprisonment, Remi lives with Mrs. Milligan and her invalid son Arthur on their house boat. After his term has been served Vitalis takes Remi away, much to the grief of both him and the Milligans, who have become very much attached to him.

When next we meet Remi, four months have passed, and much has happened. Vitalis has died and Remi is at an inn with an amusing landlady who hides a kind heart under a rough exterior. At this inn he meets a friend, Mattia, another homeless boy from whom he learns of the death of Jerome. He receives a letter from the landlady, telling him that a couple claiming to be his parents have been found, and are in London. Remi and Mattia go to London, and find that the people are gypsies. The two boys run away when the police come disclosing that the gypsies sell stolen goods. Remi returns to the Milligan's house boat, where he learns that he is Mrs. Milligan's son, stolen in infancy by an envious brother-in-law, who wished to inherit Mr. Milligan's fortune.

The play was well done and amusing, and was attended by a large audience.

All Star Cast Writes Own Play

Ladies and gentlemen! I have an important announcement to make. That famous troupe of dramatic actors, "The Phoenician Staff", is soon to favor us with a new production in their own inimitable style. These famous actors will present a melodrama of unusual emotional qualities. We promise you laughter and tears, action and love interest. The cast will include such famous and excellent tragedians as Robert Scharrmann, famed for his colossal portrayal of Hamlet, Laura Yost, best known for her beautiful rendition of Poe's "The Raven" and Ernest Fockler—who with his amazing dramatic ability often has the audience in tears.

The details for this stupendous production are not completed. Watch for further developments in the YODLER.

The most amazing thing about this production is the price. It will be presented entirely free. Not one cent do you pay to see this remarkable exhibition of the dramatic art. This play is especially recommended to all high school students, as it will be given in some future assembly (which is compulsory).

Sophomores Take School Seriously

Members of Miss Mary Frances Tar's English II class apparently take to heart Pope's message that "A little learning is a dangerous thing; drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring." While studying ex-temporaneous speaking some of the students requested that they continue the subject with debates even though debating is not generally studied until the junior year.

Phoenician Ready To Go To Press

Work on the Phoenician is progressing rapidly. The pictures have been sent to the engraver and staff members are now writing articles. About the middle of this month the editor expects to send the copy to the printers.

A report has been received from the engraver's central office in Chicago that the Phoenician pictures are the best submitted by any school publication so far this year.
