

Student Council Reports

Since Christmas vacation the Student Council has been dealing with many different and important issues which concern the school and students.

One of the main objects of discussion concerned a clearer interpretation of the change in the grading system. Last year, if a student had a total of three A's and three B's, he received a final grade of an A. However, it is being changed this year. Now, if a person has three A's and three B's, a final grade of B is received. There has been a rather heated discussion because most of the students did not find out about this change until recently. Mr. Ackley has made the situation clear to the satisfaction of some of the students.

Another topic was the securing of school buses to transport the interested students to the games. The first attempt was unsuccessful due to the short notice given to the home room representatives. Action is now being taken for the other games if enough students wish to go. The students, however, must cooperate by paying promptly for their transportation.

W. U. Y. Sees Movie

The students and faculty of Westmont were treated to another well-selected movie on the first Friday after Christmas vacation. "The Sullivans" struck hard the deep emotions of the female section of the audience. One could hardly hear the end of the movie for the sobs that resounded throughout the auditorium.

Student Council deserves a hand for their good selection of pictures, and Mr. Spence deserves our gratitude for running them.

Definition of a bore—A bore is one who talks about himself when you would like to be talking about yourself.

DON'T PUSH;
SHOVE GENTLY

A short time ago, our school was visited by a very honored (and fictitious) gentleman. Upon being interviewed by one of the more competent members of our staff, Mr. Aloysius Runemdown Smith stated his opinion of W. U. Y.

He readily admitted that we do have a wonderful school, all except, that is, for the stampede when the noon hour rolls around.

First of all, he suggests that a very conspicuous sign be placed where all who are not familiar with the "rush of the century" can see it. He cautions everyone to obey that sign warning them to keep out of the upper and lower halls and definitely away from the stairways, when the bell rings at 11:45 A.M.

Here is Mr. Smith's personal experience, and we quote:

"I was walking very nonchalantly through the main hall of your school one day about 11:43 A.M., when I suddenly became very alarmed. You see, I was afraid that I had wandered into a zoo, for I saw a weary looking teacher trying to keep a crowd of students in his classroom away from the door. They really looked more like wild animals, or should I say, acted like wild animals.

"I asked a passing student what the trouble was, and she explained that it was almost time for the lunch bell to ring. She told me that the last class of the morning was the longest class of the day, because it was just before lunch and everyone, including the teachers, was famished when 'the hour' finally arrived.

"I imagined that those wonderful odors that had been drifting up from the cafeteria didn't make the situation any better, and she agreed that I was definitely right.

"About two seconds later, I heard a bell ring and through every door in the hall poured students and more students. It was at that moment that I decided to seek refuge from this 'stampede.'

"Since I had never participated in the sport called track, I sought a hiding place in a nearby corner, or so I thought. The corner didn't prove to be such a good place in which to seek refuge; I had my feet tramped upon so many times I couldn't count them.

"I thought that someone had fallen as the pupils surged from the rooms, and was just beginning to wonder when the ambulance was due to arrive.

"I then ventured to inch my way very slowly down the hall, keeping close to the wall.

Too Little and Too Late

One of the most important events in the life of an academic high school student are The College Board Examinations, for these will determine whether or not he will become a college student. Too few high school students begin to lose any sleep over these tests until the middle of their senior year—if ever. These exams are no cinch either, because, as a result of an influx of army men, colleges can afford to be very particular.

The students of Westmont are fortunate in having a large collection of published questions from old College Board Examinations. Miss Greer has collected these questions over a period of years and is glad to help anyone who is truly interested in using them. Since they are not replacable, they must be used in the library.

For the students who are really interested in preparing for these tests, one of the prime prerequisites is a large vocabulary. The need of a large, workable store of words can not be over-emphasized. Of the nine different types of questions that are usually asked, five require a large vocabulary.

There are many different ways that one can go about the task of building a larger vocabulary; however, that is not the main idea of this article. This article is being written only for those pupils who are wholeheartedly interested in getting into college. There is only one answer to the problem of passing a difficult entrance exam; that is to begin studying while still an under-classman.

When this article is read (if, indeed, the average student even bothers to read it) the popular opinion will be that it is mostly the propaganda passed out by the teachers "for whom we are working." Remember—if you are an academic high school student—no one can expect to get any more out of these College Board Exams than the amount of work he put into them while in high school.

This is one test for which you must be prepared.

"I don't need to worry. I'm in the upper tenth of my class," says "the brain" of the sophomore class. That may be true, but more and more colleges require entrance exams from every student. Even if one knows too much to bother working toward a Board Examination, why not try for a scholarship? The winner of the Pepsi-Cola and other fine scholarships have to come from some school—why not Westmont? Think it over, and if Mr. Joe Student ever wants to see how much he still has to learn, tell him to take a trip to the box of College Board Questions in the library.

TRIBUNE SPONSORS
"STUDENT FORUM"

"The Johnstown Tribune" recently has honored our school by selecting us as one of the eight district schools to compete in the weekly "Student Forum," an article that gives the individual student a chance to express his ideas and opinions. When such a splendid opportunity as this has been placed before us, why should we ignore it? The topics of discussion are "Universal Military Training," "Voting Age Changed to Eighteen," "Mar-

VIC TRICKS

When the gals and guys of W. U. Y. are not engrossed in a game of basketball or their studies, they love to listen to some good music. On Saturdays a large percent of them can be found in a record shop listening to favorite recordings or scouting the different shops for favorite "platter bands."

A recent survey shows that many of the new songs and arrangements are popular with the kids around school.

"The Stars Will Remember" and "Do You Know Just How Lucky You Are?" by Frank Sinatra, are tops with the serious-minded. "Dance, Ballerina, Dance" is also a very popular recording, especially if Perry Como is the vocalist.

On the gayer side of the picture, we have "I'm My Own Grandpa," "I'm Looking Over a Four-Leaf Clover," and "I'll Dance At Your Wedding."

We certainly can not forget the polkas, because, "Papa, Won't You Dance With Me?" and "The Too Fat Polka" are still tops although they were being played over a month ago.

Happy hunting, "platter fans!"

THROUGH THE HALLS

Although it's kind of late in the year, we would like to congratulate the seniors for the top-notch job that they performed in making the Sno-Ball a rousing success. The advertising department also help to sell many tickets with their "Greatest Band in Western Pennsylvania."

Mrs. Regittko, our math teacher, seems to have "Miss Lady Luck" against her these days. In December she was badly injured in an automobile wreck; just recently she stepped from a school bus and broke her ankle. The whole school joins in wishing Mrs. Regittko a speedy recovery and better luck in the remaining part of the year.

Thanks for the effort on the part of the followers of the W. U. Y. quintet to go to the games. The team appreciates your cheering. Remember, where there's a will, there's a way. (Except the night before an exam.)

Freddy Suppes has gone to every game so far, with all girls, too! That's right "Suppy." Keep up the good work.

A suggestion has been made that pupils refrain from rushing around the corners in the halls. You might knock down someone besides your best friend the next time.

"Please watch when using the drinking fountains. You might come up with a beautiful red, blue or green wad of bubble gum on your nose! How thoroughly disgusting! It has been going on for a long time now and no one seems to care!

It seems that the sophomore and junior class have three exceptionally young "student teachers." Rene Rodriguez and Barbara Yost proved to their classmates that they could teach algebra one day during Mrs. Regittko's absence.

Nan Reese tried to carry on French class when Mlle. Hershberger lost her voice in a bad case of laryngitis. M. Rabinowitz provided a slight bit of competition with his vast knowledge of the language.

A big welcome back to school, Bill Scott. We all hope that you are feeling much better after your period of being hospitalized at John Hopkin's Hospital.

X-Change

Boy Friend: "We are going to have a swell time tonight. I've got three seats for the show."

Sweet Young Thing: "Three seats? What do we want with three seats?"

Boy Friend: "One for your Dad, one for your Mother, and one for your kid-brother."

Reader: "So you make up these jokes yourself?"

Editor: "Yep, out of my head."

Reader: "You must be."

CLUB NEWS

Biology Club

The biologists of W. U. Y. have proved themselves capable of passing the official test of dissecting a frog. Through the dissection it is possible to make a more delicate study of the anatomy of this reptile. The future meetings will determine which field of biology will hold the interest of the club members. If your hunger has not been satisfied in the cafeteria, drop into 301 and order . . . Frog's Legs a la mode.

A very informative movie was also shown giving a complete diagram of Harvey's Circulatory System. Another performance of this movie will be shown to any person not in the club for a small price of 75 cents.

Spanish Club

Recently the Spanish Club attended Darryl Zanuck's great production of the "Captain from Castile." A large percentage of the club members participated. The background of the "Captain from Castile" was based on the Spanish language and customs. Every member shone with pride as he recognized the familiar Spanish phrases. Although the plans for the trip to Mexico were discontinued, every member sincerely wishes to visit Mexico some time in the future.

Key Club

The Key Club sponsored a very successful gym dance after the Ferndale game. Thanks to the couples from Ferndale, it was a roaring success. The club is planning an assembly for sometime in February. One of the latest speakers, Harold Kaminsky, spoke on the preparation for the study of law. All interests have been centered on the planning of the assembly. Good luck!

Photography Club

The Camera Club is sponsoring an all-out drive for the purpose of raising money for an enlarger. A dark room is now being constructed in the alcove beside the nurse's office. The members in charge of this project are Sonny Holzman, Earl McKeever, Barbara Yost, Anne Clafin, and Kenny Heffley. A curtain has already been purchased and two gym dances have been scheduled for the raising of the necessary funds. The dark room will prove to be very useful for it will be possible for each member to develop his own films. Let's support the gym dances because they are for a worth-while organization.

my Daddy because his is all gone!"

Feminine Compliment: "My dear, what a perfectly lovely gown! Didn't they have it in your size?"

"Listen, I'm right. I ought to know. Don't I go to school, Stupid?"

"Yes, and you come home the same way."

Bob: "Where have you been?"

Dave: "In a phone booth talking to my girl, but someone wanted to use the phone, so we had to get out."

A little chap was asked to name comparative degree of "sick."

"Worse," said he.

"Well if 'worse' is the comparative of 'sick', what would you give as the superlative?"

"Dead," was the instant answer.—Owl.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

Intramural Basketball Starts

Do you want to see something better than Daryl Zanuck's latest film production, or more thrilling than the Rose Bowl game? You needn't go to sunny California or worry about paying one hundred dollars for a seat. Just waltz up to the gym some Monday or Wednesday, sit down, and relax to a good lesson in Intramural basketball. Yes, at times it might be as rough as a football game but it's enjoyable, and just as thrilling as checkers. The favored squad is Coach John Hipp's Senior C team. Coach Hipp and his co-captains, Bill Berney and Bob Squire, have sent out the challenge to any team at any time. Senior A, captained by Bob Leabhart and Bob Homonay, has already tucked one victory under its belt. Ken Dorian and Tom Biddleman will lead on their charges, the Senior C. The Juniors are led in the A group by "Zork" Johns and John Goettlicher. "Beezie" Zimmerman and Dick Cowan lead the "B's." The "Knights" of "Sir Blair" Menser and Jim Wagner are out to get everybody and especially their rival B team sparked by Carl Keifer and Bob Mitchell. The Freshmen come up with another top-notch team. Taking orders from Bill Sides and Jack Menser, they are sparked by Martin "Einstein" Smith, nine-foot veteran from last year's frosh squad. The whistle tooting is done by the members of the varsity-squad and Mr. McNay takes care of the score card. So if you have nothing to do except memorize Mark Antony's speech or work a few hundred algebra problems, go to the gym and enjoy the intramural basketball games.

The girls' basketball practice started in December and is going full speed at the present time. We find the freshmen putting up a good fight under the capable leadership of Barbara Stutzman and Isabel Glatz. The next in line are the greatly feared sophomores who are led by Barbara Yost and Marilyn Lehman. The juniors are leading the tournament with Val Picking and Lois Hostetler as the two captains, but it seems that "dead-eye" Bregman is the most outstanding member of that team. The seniors are lead by Freddy Dunn and Betty Peterson and are ably supported by such players as Eileen Shaffer, Minnie Simmons and Sallie Anderson.

Each class seems well represented in this sport and it appears that each will find competition for the championship very tough.

Heard Inside the Locker Room

Blows were swapped in the shower room after the Johnstown game as our big strapping forward, Eddie Miller, and little Paul Gitto had it out. The decision of the judges—a draw.

Card sharks of the basketball squad had a "crimp" put in their plans as the Y-officials in Allegheny refused to permit such goings on. It was a good thing these warnings were observed, for the official who issued them, later turned out to be the head official of the basketball game.

Did anyone notice the shock and amazement that registered on Herby Sherer's face as the red-headed official of the Indiana game called a foul on the lanky center?

Speaking of sly looks, have you noticed "Moan" Margolis's face when a referee calls a foul on him?

Hats off to Luther Hoffman who started with the varsity at Ebensburg in order that some of the boys dressed for the varsity game could be saved for J. V. competition if ever needed.

Heaton, lanky Indiana guard, suffered a broken nose in the early moments of the second quarter in the game with W. U. Y. H. S. As one might imagine, it was not one of our players who inflicted the damages, but a teammate of Heaton.

WESTMONT CAGE RESULTS

The Alumni "skyscrapers" felt the power of the "Hilltoppers" as they bowed in defeat 28-31. Karl Park led the pack with 10 counters.

Altoona journeyed over the mountain and handed the Red and Gray its first loss 41-37. The Hilltoppers started off as cold as a snowball, but came back fast to upset the Lions—almost.

Bouncing back, the basketballers took the measure of an improved Windber squad 54-31. John Hipp sparked the attack with 22 markers.

Westmont emerged the victor in a hotly battled contest with Conemaugh Township 41-38. The game was followed by a near riot as a last-second basket was disputed.

A journey to the deep South, namely Allegheny, went by the boards as far as "Westy" was concerned. The squad suffered their second loss of the season by a 33-35 score in the last second of play by virtue of a push shot from the center of the floor by a flashy Cumberland guard.

Playing away for the second straight week, the "Hillers" went down to defeat at the hands of a lanky Indiana five 30-34. The height was too much to overcome.

Once again the squad was away from home, but it was a different result this time. The Westmont five emerged victorious over Ebensburg although the home team was without the services of Captain Johnny Hipp.

Bedlam broke loose on the hill-top court as Westmont Hilltoppers battled the Johnstown Trojans in a game which will go down in the annals of Westmont sport. The game was so close that an error by the official scorekeeper almost led to a protest by the Johnstown coach. As the smoke of battle cleared the Red and Gray boys emerged with a 38-37 lead.

JUST US

Happy New Year, All.

It couldn't be a tall blond that makes you glance into Mr. Mac's typing class every morning, WOOD it Jack Buser?

Marilyn Lehman's New Year's party looked very interesting from what I saw of the pictures that Charles Staley managed to snap of some of the "high moments" of the evening.

Ken Dorian and Johnny Hipp had a gay time also on New Year's Eve—breaking all the balloons at the progressive dinner.

Joan Imhoff is a Windber fan these days. He's very nice, Joan. You know, Windber is just about up to Ferndale in the W. U. Y. popularity poll.

Please give Tom Cush a PAT on the back for graciously giving up his treasured Hi-Y pin to a member of the opposite sex.

Just the other day, I saw Mary Elizabeth James with the biggest smile on her face. It could have been that she was thinking of a Hunter who plays basketball for the Westmont A. C.'s.

"Spots" Robinson seems to have his trained eye on a sophomore girl. Her name just couldn't happen to be Doris, could it "Spots?"

"Bullet" Bill Blimmel . . . so you finally got a break . . . with a certain girl—that is?

Question of the month: Who is the girl that Willy Hlivko has been starry-eyed over the last few weeks?

Well, see you next month,

Bye now,

K. K.

MUSIC NOTES

Plans for big doings in a musical way, are nearing completion at W. U. Y. The school is to act as host to the annual meeting of an all-county orchestra and chorus. This event takes place at a different school every year. The purpose is for the outstanding musicians of Cambria County to come together and give a concert. There are usually three practices before the night of the concert, which is to be on February 23, this year. Westmont heartily welcomes all members of the organization and hopes that their experiences at Westmont will be pleasant.

The date for the annual band concert is drawing nearer and nearer, and students of music in W. U. Y. are really putting their noses to the grindstone. The band should be right up to par in their bright new uniforms. If all goes as planned, the concert should be a big success.

The musical season is here at last, much to the joy of the musicians of Westmont High. All-County Band, the high school band concert, and finally the Forensic Music League, which takes place sometime in March, are on the schedule for this coming spring. The last is a contest in which students compete for musical honors in their own districts. The winners of their district contests go on to state-wide finals and sometimes state championships.

pers soundly walloped Ferndale. The score, 47-27, sounds rather high. When the first half had ended the score stood 14-11 in favor of Westmont. Coach Engh must have given the boys a pep talk in the locker room, for when the final whistle blew they had sunk 20 out of 39 shots.

ALUMNI DOINGS

Cupid has been running wild among our Alumni this winter.

On December 20, Fritz Newbaker announced her engagement to Fred Thomas. The couple have set no definite wedding date, as yet, but they will probably exchange vows sometime this summer.

Charlotte Reese started the New Year right when she walked down the aisle with Robert Mishler. The two were married in the Franklin Street Methodist Church on January 3, and 250 people attended a reception of the home of the bride. Bob and Charlotte went to Niagara Falls for their honeymoon. Later they will return to Madison where they plan to make their home.

Cal Wilson and Jean Neff have set the nuptial date for the thirty-first of January. The ceremony will be held at the Westmont Presbyterian Church. Immediately afterward the two will go to New York for their honeymoon. When they return from "the big city," they will live near State College where Cal is attending school.

Betty Churchey had an especially nice Christmas. She found an engagement ring in her socking on Christmas morning, and it was from Paul Hammer. The two have not decided when they will be wed.

A few of the Alumni who joined the peace time army have been honorably discharged recently. Two of these are Don Hocker and Bruce Ideson. Both boys were in Korea and was discharged from Camp Lawton in Seattle, Washington. They earned ranks as technical sergeants. Bob Livingston, who was a technical corporal when discharged, came home from Alaska. Jim Horne and Bob Kahl, after serving in the signal corps, returned from Japan with T/5 ranks. Jack Coppersmith is back from Trieste.

Tom Carroll and Jack Montgomery are attending Junior Pitt this year. Tom is preparing to be a certified public accountant. Next year he hopes to transfer to Washington and Jefferson. Jack is transferring to Penn State this spring semester where he will take a course in engineering.

DON'T PUSH; SHOVE GENTLY

As I neared the top of the steps, I could hear the crowd bearing down upon me. Some kind soul gently pushed me out of the way of a jolly lad, who evidently wanted to make the going a little easier by sliding down the banister.

"CRASH! What was that? I sympathized with the poor girl who had dropped her books, for I doubt if she rescued one of them with a cover left on it. I passed a sign that read "To the Cafeteria," and decided to follow the hall, which I was very sure led to the place where I hoped to be able to obtain some food. I knew very definitely that I was on the right trail, when I was very nicely knocked over by four freshmen who had been pushed out of line by some seniors. Oh, well, their time will come.

"I finally got something to eat after waiting in a "conga line" for about twenty minutes.

"Many of the students like this system because they always are first in line; however the freshmen usually get the end of the line instead of the front. It is indeed encouraging to know that a system of bells has been instituted—one bell for each grade—so that everyone will have a chance.

"I am very sure that your school will be much improved by this addition, so I hope the students will co-operate."

INTRODUCING . . .

As there doesn't seem to be anyone new at W. U. Y.—it's getting harder and harder to keep them coming in faster than they go out—I shall take his opportunity to introduce some of our underclassmen. Isabel Glatz is a freshman. She lives for the good old summer time, so she can go swimming, although basketball is tops during school time. This year's freshmen are a strange crop. Some of them actually have favorite subjects. Isabel's is Latin. Music also holds a high place in her life, and "How Soon" is her favorite song.

"Bernie" Kleinstub is another frosh. He is a future Eddie Sax, although he is only a freshman, he certainly can twirl that baton. Next to twirling comes sports with Bernie. High in this line is baseball, which he loves to play. His favorite subject is algebra, and he also likes high school.

Dick Rodriguez's favorite pastime is sleeping. Now there is a boy after my own heart. He also likes to play basketball at which he is really a "hot" shot. He has definite ideas of high school. "High school," says Dick, "is to college as elementary school is to high school." He doesn't particularly care for music, but he plays the harmonica anyway.

Patsy Spidle is another football fan. For fun she'd rather swim and play basketball than anything. Patsy thinks high school is fine, but she liked grade school better. She takes her place in the high school band as a budding drummer, and does a fine job, too. She likes mathematics, and algebra is her favorite subject.

Marilyn Von Lunen, though a freshman, has already proved her aptness in the field of sports. She is a dead shot in basketball which is her favorite sport. Swimming runs a close second, and she likes to watch a good football game. In addition to her accomplishments as sportswoman, she plays the piano.

New Year's Resolutions

1. Joan Imhoff—to go out no more than seven nights a week.
2. Bob Gray—not to read any more comic books in study period.
3. Beezie Bregman to be high scorer in every junior game (so far, so good, "Deadeye")
4. Don Wood—to eat no more than one-half sandwich for lunch.
5. Stu Kline—never drive with Beezie again.
6. Mike Mlanarchak—to study harder, stop smoking.
7. Terry Koontz—to stop day-dreaming in study hall.
8. Sharon Mebs—to try to stop staring into those gorgeous blue eyes of Dick Cowan.
9. The boys of W. U. Y.—to scrub the gym every Tuesday and Thursday for the girls.
10. Rodger Newbaker—not to spend over a nickel at Jake's every day.
11. Ben Custer—not to blow up the chemistry lab, at least till the last day of school.
12. Phoebe—not to like any boys from Altoona.

shall Plan" and "Juvenile Delinquency." Juniors and seniors from Westmont are permitted to participate in this undertaking, and it would be gratifying to know that a few are interested enough to write articles on the topics listed above. If you, who are reading this appeal, wish to inquire further, speak to Mrs. Raab, who will do all she can to help and guide you.
