

OBJECT TO THE WAGES.

Gen. Hastings to Discharge the Regiment of Police-men--New Hands to Take Up the Work on Wednesday.

JOHNSTOWN, June 11.--This is the last day for clearing away the effects of the flood by the civil authorities.

The weary and dreary succession of rainy days since the flood continues and the day broke amidst a drizzling rain.

The rain has served to saturate the earth and has made the work more disagreeable.

It has had some good results. For almost continuous rains the river at this point would have become too low and shallow to float away the debris that is fast being loosened and thrown into the river.

The continued full stream has rendered the work of getting the wreckage away from the stone bridge much less arduous and much more speed.

Warm rain has served to cool the air and temper the hot rays of the sun.

There has been such weather as prevailed yesterday afternoon, hot and exhausting, it is believed by many that it would have been impossible to continue the work of searching for the dead.

Even as it is, the fumes arising from decomposing bodies of persons and animals are most offensive and at times almost overpowering.

Search for the dead continues, and in all sections and directions bodies are being found.

The willing and hard working volunteer laborers began to leave early this morning, and the train leaving here at 8 a. m. took away over 400.

This is the greatest outpouring that will set in to-morrow.

Among those who left this morning were one hundred and fifty laborers from the Hartman steel company, Beaver Falls.

They said they would not work for $1.50 for Gen. Hastings or anybody else.

It is the general opinion that the county board made a mistake in offering less to the men than paid at present ($2) and that the result will be a temporary cessation of work.

One of the first things to be done by Gen. Hastings will be the discharge of the 800 policemen now doing duty here.

In this connection it is likely to be much grumbling and hard talk. It has been decided that no relief should be paid out of the relief fund, but that the county, whose sheriff deputized them, should pay for their services.

All men employed by Booth & Flinn will be paid off to-day and discharged, and transportation furnished for as many as do not wish to work for the state at $1.50 per day.

The channel of the river above the stone bridge is being fast cleared, and while comparatively little impression has been made on the great mass of debris near the bridge, the results along the channel are very marked.

The Cambria Iron company's works and yards which contained the best results thus far seen of the hard work toward the semblance of what they once were.

Each department was told to clean up their own part of the plant, and as each department is damaged to about the same extent they will all be finished about the same time, and work will be ended.

It is estimated that the work was the first reaping, and the wood and iron wreckage is hauled to different parts of the yard, and great piles of wood are being burned, while the iron will be examined later.

After to-day all commissary departments will be in charge of the general board of health and sanitary general, with three assistants--Lieut. Brown, U. S. A., and Quartermasters Wm. and A. S. G. P. There will be two post commissaries, first in charge of Major Horn at Pennsylvania freight depot, where all goods coming over the general road will be received and stored.

The commissary will be located at the Baltimore & Ohio in charge of Mayor Singer. There will be eleven district commissaries. Each will be assisted by a quartermaster and commissary sergeants. The duty will be to make a list of them and make requisitions on the quartermaster general for provisions and distribute the same as fast as possible.

But two bodies had been recovered at the Fourth ward morgue up to noon.

ONE-TENTH CLEARED.

The Obstructions in Johnstown Being Rapidly Removed.

JOHNSTOWN, June 10.--After a careful examination to-day of the work of clearing Johnstown it was estimated that about one-tenth of the debris has been removed.

The number of men at work constantly varies, but a fair average would be 5,000. The frequent rains have soaked through the rubbish, beaten down to an almost solid mass by the constant tramping over it, has become very difficult of removal.

As many of the buildings are scattered over the levels and are constantly fed with wreckage, the fire is serving two good purposes, getting rid of obstructions and producing a level surface.

While it is estimated that the residue from all sections in the valley will show the recovery of about 3,000 bodies up to-day.

Dr. Beale states that the actual number dug out in Johnstown has reached 1,700 already.

DISTRESSING INCIDENTS.

Distressing incidents, the result of the disaster, continually come to notice.

Mrs. D. S. Lane was taken away this morning insane. Her husband kept a shoe store on Main street, the family living in Kennebec.

The couple are quite aged and lost all their children and property in the flood.

Mrs. Lane brooded over the calamity to such an extent that her mind became affected, and her husband was obliged to take her away to an asylum.

The remains of C. P. St. John, of Pittsburg, New York, have been buried in cemetery.

His family, who are all here, have had friends and acquaintances about Philadelphia.

He was a traveling optician and had been here about three weeks, located in a new building on Main street.

He boarded at the Hulbert house. The body was identified by papers found in the clothing.

The body of Josephine Sledge, of the family of the same name, was identified by a card which was found clenched in her hand and upon which her name was written.

The remains of Miss Elizabeth Bryan, companion of Miss Bessie Bryan, were reported found late on Sunday night below Morrellville.

They were taken to the residence of Dr. J. W. Kerlin, a citizen of Johnstown, whose place of business was opposite the Cambria library, lost his wife and three children.

He is lying at Morrellville so ill that he is not expected to recover.

BEFORE A LARGE AUDIENCE.

The Lancaster Club is Defeated by Harrisburg in a Game Played Yesterday.

The Lancaster Club played the better fielding game as they usually do, but more especially when they are away from home.

Tommy Poliard was not seen in his usual place at short, and Vallee did some wonderful work there.

Resh did not do as well behind the bat for Lancaster as he is capable of.

The umpiring of Mr. Stinson was good, and the close decisions were given to the Harrisburg people.

The trouble is that the man lacks nerve, and seems afraid to give anything against the club from his town. The score was:

Table with columns for Lancaster and Harrisburg, listing players and their statistics.

Total. Lancaster 3 21 12 4. Harrisburg 10 0 0 1 0 0--3

Home runs--Lancaster, 3; Harrisburg, 2. Two-base hits--Vallee, Newell, Sacrifice hits--Hovetter, Shellen, Resh, 2.

Errors--Lancaster, 1; Harrisburg, 4. Harrisburg left on base--Lancaster, 4; Harrisburg, 4.

Time of game, 1 1/2. Umpire, J. Stinson. The Philadelphia Giants have been greatly strengthened since they last appeared in Lancaster and they now seem to be playing as good ball as any club in the Middle States League.

They will be here on Saturday.

The Reading club had but two hits off Stivets, of York, yesterday.

There will be a meeting of the Middle States League at the Girard house, Philadelphia, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

York and Reading had a large audience yesterday and they gave the proceeds--over $75--to the Johnstown sufferers.

Yesterday, the Grand Army grounds, the May Flower and Ironclad clubs played a game of ball. The latter won by the score of 9 to 7, in a good contest.

Weimer and Norbeck were the battery for the Ironclad and O'Brien and Fitzgerald for the May Flower.

The games of ball played yesterday resulted as follows: Reading vs. Lancaster, 3 to 3; St. Louis, 9; Baltimore, 7; Brooklyn, 7; Louisville, 5; Philadelphia, 3; Washington, 1; New York, 5; Boston, 1; Cleveland, 9; Pittsburgh, 5; Chicago, 3; Indianapolis, 2; Wilkes-Barre, 5; New Haven, 4; Hartford, 4; Easton, 2; Cincinnati-Columbus prevented by rain; Lowell, 7; Newark, 7; Jersey City, 10; Worcester, 3; Philadelphia, 7; Philadelphia Giants, 6; York, 6; Reading, 0.

HIGH SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

The Exercises to be Held in the Court House--Williamson Asks too Much Rent.

The committee of the school board on high school commencement on Monday evening and decided to have the commencement exercises in the court house on Friday, June 25.

This conclusion was reached as the only alternative the committee had to escape paying Manager Williamson, of the opera house, what was deemed an exorbitant rent.

The school board paid in any previous year more than $40 for the rent of the opera house for commencement day, which included the pay of the ushers; and when Dr. Raub, the sub-committee on hall, reported to Chairman Marshall that Mr. Williamson asked $65, the committee was called together for consultation.

After Dr. Raub's first talk with Mr. Williamson, the latter came down a trifle and agreed to furnish the opera house for $50, providing the board would pay the ushers and any extra work the janitor would have to do. This would run the cost to over $60.

The committee called upon Mr. Williamson on Monday night and stated to him they could not pay that high a rent, and he would not yield one iota and appeared to be indifferent whether the opera house was selected or not.

He said he knew that Mr. Yecker had furnished the opera house for less than $50 and expense of ushers. The committee informed Mr. Williamson that the commencement exercises would be held in the court house and in that conclusion the committee were unanimous.

Before deciding to take the court house (which, by the way, is furnished free) all the members of the school board that could be seen were consulted and they were unanimously of the opinion that the court house should be selected, if for no other reason than that Mr. Williamson said that if he has the only opera house in the city there are other rooms with accommodations which can be secured in an emergency.

The court house will be handsomely decorated for the occasion, its ventilation is better than at the opera house and with the extra seats that can be placed in the hall the court house accommodations will be ample for the throng that usually attend these interesting exercises.

CHARGED WITH STEALING MONEY.

Two Boys Who Crawled Into a Meat Store and Tapped the Till.

For some time John Ledley, butcher of South Queen street, has been annoyed by petty thieves who have been in the habit of sneaking into his store while no one would be in attendance, and stealing therefrom pudding, beef, &c. on Saturday evening the store was entered and a sum of money, amounting to between $6 and $10, was stolen from the drawer, besides some meat.

Mr. Ledley has brought suits before Alderman Spurrer against William and Frederick Hosten, aged 14 and 16 years respectively, charging them with the offense. It seems that one of the boys entered the store through the window just before the money was missed. There is a bell above the door and the boys knew that it would ring if they opened the door.

One of them therefor assisted the other through the window and the stealing was done by that one. The boys live on South Water street and do not bear the best reputation. They will be heard on Thursday.

Charged With Malicious Mischief.

Henry Wolf, barber, whose window was broken on Saturday evening by Edith Wiker and Annie Spence, the two girls who were sent to jail for twenty days each for the same offense, was brought suit against them before Alderman Spurrer, charging them with malicious mischief. They will be heard after their term of imprisonment has expired.

To Attend a Big Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gershel left to-day for New York to be present at the wedding of the great-granddaughter of Mr. Gershel, which takes place in the Metropolitan opera house on Thursday.

New Postmasters.

Among the fourth-class postmasters appointed on Monday were R. A. Baldwin (Cains, J. D. C. Pownall, Christiansa).

West Point Graduates.

The son of the late President Harris, of Lancaster, has just graduated from West Point, last in a class of forty-eight. The first five were Winslow, Massachusetts; D'Armit, Pennsylvania; Flagler, Iowa; Harding, Alabama; Harris, Illinois.

FLOOD-BOUND.

Narrow Escapes From a Town and Train by a Man Well Known Here.

Graphic Story by J. B. Kremer of the Deluge on the Mountains at the Juniata and Along the Susquehanna.

The following are the principal points of a long letter written for the Carlisle Sentinel by J. Brainerd Kremer, of that town:

Business called me to the village of Irvana, in Clearfield county, this state, on Thursday at about 5 o'clock p. m. on Thursday in the midst of a dashing rain.

About ten o'clock it again rained, or rather, poured, and lulled by the patter I went to bed, but I was not long asleep, I was awakened by the landlord saying, "If you want breakfast come down quickly or the floor will be under water."

Looking out I saw a flood of water, through the streets, driving to high ground horses, cattle and hogs.

Coming down stairs I learned that the lower end of the street was under water, but at the hotel stood some five feet above the street, the water had never exceeded a depth of fourteen inches in the building.

This night I saw the water level would have been exceedingly dangerous to have attempted wading or swimming to shore through the floating logs and debris.

I tried to get a fire, but failed to get to breakfast. Had I known that thirty-eight hours would elapse before I again could sit down at a table I would have eaten my last meal.

I had been entirely dissipated by feeling the water creeping up through the floor under my feet, and saying in a good supply of cigars, but the water was closed, I gathered together my traps and went up to the second floor.

The rain, which had not ceased to fall since 9 o'clock the night before, again ceased at any time during the whole of Friday and Friday night, seemed to grow in violence, and by 8 o'clock the water in the street was six feet deep.

My rooming room was three feet in the hotel hall. By noon it had reached a depth of two feet, from which point it did not vary much all night, but it was falling as obstructions were falling or swept above us.

The current past the house was carrying with it enormous quantities of logs, and other heavy debris such as is found in a newly cleared forest.

The water, which grandly wild, the rushing current, resistless in its force, the buildings within sight, comprising three streets, submerged to their second floors.

At 10 o'clock, the water was up to the upper floor of the barns, the squares of hogs, either tied upon rafts or swimming nearby hour by hour in the quiet water, and the water was up to the windows of the houses, which were the pale faces of women and the frightened faces of children.

The sound of pouring rain, all lending new aid to the scene which white grand, was fraught with concern to those who were in the house.

Our windows bearing ever and again the heavy floating logs striking resounding blows against the side of our hotel, breaking the windows, and the water coming from the partitions below us, or carrying away, piece by piece, the portico surrounding the building, knowing the while that the water was rising, and that the water could be learned in the vicinity.

The small stores and the back extensions of the dwellings are beginning to move from their foundations, and the water is carrying a raft of the tables and doors when a shout from many voices is heard on the hillside, and several men are seen running down the hill.

One of the boats which were brought on a hand car from a distance of five miles. The boat of rescue is a small one, and the entire population is safe from the hillside.

From one house was carried, through the second story window, a woman sick unto death; another, a man, who was lying on a bed, was rescued from a mattress and protected from the falling rain by heavy blankets, a silence fell on all and even the birds ceased to sing.

The water was rising, and the roaring of the torrent seemed less loud. She was saved from a watery grave even though her hours were numbered, for several minutes she lay on a mattress, and she was carried to the shore.
