

TEN THOUSAND DEAD.

pockets were found a lady's ear, entire, sliced from the head with a sharp knife. In the ear lobe was a sparkling diamond ring. The captors placed ropes around the necks of the villains and strung them up to the nearest tree until they were dead. They then cut them down and buried them.

Further investigation of the contents of the pockets of the fiends, brought forth large quantities of jewelry and the mutilated finger of a little girl on which was a gold band ring.

At 5 o'clock that night, a posse of farmers surrounded a gang of fourteen Hungarians who were robbing the dead, and succeeded, after a lively battle with clubs and rocks, in driving three of them into the middle of the stream, where they sank beneath the waves to rise no more.

The situation was so threatening, the sheriff telegraphed the governor for troops and three companies of militia arrived on the ground this morning.

Firing is reported to have taken place to-day, but the details are meagre.

BURYING THE VICTIMS.

The Sad Work Begun, Which Will Fill a Large Cemetery at Once.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—The work of burying the dead began Sunday morning and has been kept up ever since. The bruising of the bodies by logs and trees and other debris, and exposure in the water, have tended to hasten decomposition, which has set in in scores of cases, rendering interment instantly necessary. Bodies are being buried as rapidly as they are identified. The work of undertakers in embalming the dead has rendered it impossible to keep all those embalmed two or three days longer, but this is only desirable in cases where identification is dubious and no claimants appear at all.

Yesterday the cars sent out from Pittsburg with provisions for the living were hastily cleared in order to contain the bodies of the dead intended for interment in suburban cemeteries and in graveyards handy to the city, and formality is dispensed with. In some instances only the undertaker and his assistants are present, and in others only one or two members of the family of the dead.

Coffins for the Dead.

CINCINNATI, June 3.—A representative of one of the railroads here said a Cincinnati coffin company received an order by telegraph for 1,500 coffins for the victims of the Johnstown disaster. The coffins were shipped to Pittsburg Saturday evening.

TELEGRAPH OPERATORS DROWNED.

Mrs. Ogle, the Manager, Stood by Her Post and Bravely Met Death.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 3.—It has just transpired that the whole corps of Western Union telegraph operators was lost Friday evening. Among them were Mrs. Ogle, manager, who for twenty-five years has acted as receiver of Associated Press reports at this place, and her daughter Minnie, also well known, also Misses Gorman and Watkins and three messenger boys, who were unable to escape from the building.

Mrs. Ogle will go down in history as a heroine of the highest order. Notwithstanding the repeated notifications which she received to get out of reach of the approaching danger, she stood by the instrument with unflinching loyalty and undaunted fearlessness, sending words of warning to those in danger in the valley below. When every station in the path of the coming torrent had been warned, she wired her companion at South Fork: "This is my last message," and as such it shall always be remembered as her last words on earth, for at that very moment the torrent engulfed her and bore her from her post on earth to her post of honor in the great beyond.

RELIEF FOR THE DESTITUTE.

Over a Hundred Thousand Dollars Subscribed in Pittsburg—Elsewhere.

PITTSBURG, June 3.—In this city there is but one topic of conversation, and that is the Johnstown deluge. Crowds of eager watchers all day long besieged newspaper bulletin boards and rendered streets impassable in their vicinity. Many of them had friends or relatives in the stricken district, and "Names, names," was their cry. But there were no names. The storm which had perhaps swept away the lives of their loved ones had also carried away all means of communication, and their vigil was unrewarded.

Along the banks of the now turbulent Allegheny were placed watchers for dead bodies, and all wreckage was carefully scanned for the dead. The result of this vigilance was the recovery of one body—that of a woman floating down on a pile of debris. Several other bodies were seen, but could not be reached, owing to the swift-moving wreckage by which they were surrounded.

Measures for relief were promptly taken by thoughtful men. The mayors of both Pittsburg and Allegheny issued calls for mass meetings, which were responded to by throngs of Pittsburg's wealthiest men. At 1 p. m. $60,000 was in hand, and at 5 p. m. the sum was swelled to $160,000. The American Republican club met, and a committee to take charge of aid for the sufferers was elected. Thirteen hundred dollars were subscribed by the club. The Exposition society offered its large new building to relief committees for housing of the living sufferers.

A special train was chartered by the newspapers to carry provisions, medicines and clothing to the nearest possible point to Johnstown.

Relief from Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., June 3.—Governor Foraker has sent a telegram to Gen. James A. Beaver at Harrisburg, tendering the use of tents, up to as high as 1,000, for the sufferers at Johnstown. He sent a similar telegram to General Manager James McCrea, of the Pennsylvania system. The governor also sent a telegram to Gen. Beaver, stating that W. G. Desher, of this place, had suggested a call for help, and proposing to start a subscription with $500 from himself. General Manager McCrea has answered the governor from Pittsburg, saying that the tents will be badly needed; that at least 500 are wanted, and he will furnish cars to load them at Columbus free of transportation.

The governor has issued the following proclamation:

To the People of Ohio:

An appeal for help comes to us from Pennsylvania. The disaster at Johnstown and other cities and villages in that vicinity is overwhelming. It is estimated that over 6,000 people have lost their lives, and more than 40,000 have lost their property, and are without food or clothing.

The calamity is so appalling, and the need for help so great and urgent that it cannot be met except by a quick and generous response from the country at large. It is our duty in this hour of their distress to contribute to the relief of these afflicted communities, and I do therefore hereby request the mayor of each city and town in the state to forthwith take such steps as may be necessary as may be most appropriate, to possess the people of the full knowledge of the demands of the situation and to secure from them such contribution as their generosity and sympathy may prompt them to make, and for the purpose of facilitating and systematizing this work, I do further request that all such contributions where it may not be more convenient to transmit them directly, be reported at once to Hon. William G. Desher, Columbus, O., whom I hereby appoint to receive and forward the same, in the name and on behalf of the contributors, to the proper relief committee in Pennsylvania.

J. B. FORAKER, Governor.
Attest: DANIEL J. RYAN, Sec'y of State.

Indianapolis Doing Nobly.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 3.—The sufferings of the Johnstown people have excited the liveliest sympathy here, and organized effort is making to do all possible for the relief of the stricken people. The relief committee of the board of trade held a meeting Sunday morning and arranged to appoint canvassers for funds, and at most of the churches liberal collections were taken.

The relief committee yesterday sent $1,000 to the Pittsburg committee, and a larger amount will be sent to-morrow. A meeting of citizens will be held this evening, and the city may be expected to do its utmost.

The division superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad at this point was ordered to forward all men skilled in bridge building, and a train of several cars loaded with men and provisions left this evening for the scene of its disaster.

A Call on Indiana Masons.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 2.—Yesterday morning the following was issued:

"OFFICE OF THE GRAND MASTER MASON, TERRE HAUTE, June 2, 1889.
"To the Subordinate Lodge of Indiana:
"You are hereby urgently requested to raise suitable contributions and make such appropriations as are possible for the immediate relief of Masonic brethren who are afflicted with disaster at and around Johnstown, Pa., and send the funds so raised promptly to William H. Smythe, grand secretary, at Indianapolis, for proper distribution."
"THOMAS B. LONG, Grand Master."

Appeals in New York.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Mayor Grant has appealed for success for the relief of the Pennsylvania sufferers, as has also Governor Hill. Similar appeals have been issued all over the country.

No Government Tents to Be Had.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Gen. Schofield, acting secretary of war, has asked Governor Beaver, by telegraph, what the war department can do to aid the sufferers by the floods in Pennsylvania. He says the department has no tents, all the extra ones having been sent to Charleston during the earthquake and never returned.

Relief Meeting Called at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Mayor Oregler has called a meeting of citizens to be held at the city hall to take measures for the relief of the Johnstown sufferers.

John B. Drake, of the Grand Pacific hotel, has headed a subscription list with $500.

FLOOD IN THE SUSQUEHANNA.

A Vast Amount of Property Destroyed and Several Lives Lost.

ANDOVER, N. Y., June 3.—A terrible rain storm visited this section early Saturday morning. All the streams were swollen far above high water marks, and fields and roads were overflowed. No less than a dozen bridges in this town were carried away and newly planted crops are utterly ruined. The water continued to rise rapidly until 4 o'clock. At that hour the two dams at the ponds above the village gave way, and the water rushed madly down into the village.

Nearly every street in the village was overflowed, and in many cases occupants of houses were driven to the upper floors for safety. Owens' large tannery was flooded and ruined. Almost every rod of railroad track was covered, and much of it will have to be rebuilt. The track at some points is covered fifteen feet with earth, and trains cannot run for two or three days. Much lumber, many small buildings and other property has been carried away.

Iron Bridge Washed Away.

CANASERAGA, N. Y., June 3.—The freshet was the most destructive ever known here. A considerable portion of this village was inundated at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The Main street iron bridge was lifted and carried forty rods down stream. It is almost completely wrecked. An ordinary sized river ran down Main street. Stock was rescued with difficulty. Everywhere the damage is very great. The water reached its highest point at 4 a. m.

At Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 3.—The maximum height attained by the Susquehanna river was twenty-seven feet one inch above low water mark, twenty-six inches above the point reached by the biggest flood on record before. Five hundred families were compelled to vacate their houses in this city and Steelton. At the latter place Mrs. Halstein and child, William Strange and another man were drowned.

This powder never varies. A Marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the adulterated low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 106 Wall-St., New York.
