

COME BUT NOT FORGOTTEN.

Cashier Wasserman Concludes to Make Himself Scarce.

IT IS THOUGHT HE WENT WEST.

Mr. Needham Says That None But Stockholders Will Lose by the Failure—Cause of the Trouble.

Depositors to Be Paid in Full.

The Bank of Omaha was not opened yesterday morning, none of the officials appearing. Sheriff Coburn appeared at 10 o'clock and posted the following notice on the door:

Closed—This bank is now in my possession as assignee. Admittance is positively refused.

A reporter called at the residence of Cashier Wasserman and was informed by a servant that Mr. and Mrs. Wasserman had gone west, probably to Denver.

Mr. Needham was seen, and said: "Our failure was due to the fact that we had invested our money in paper and could not meet the demands of our depositors. Then, too, the national banks combined against us. Nobody will lose anything, but the stockholders, as our assets will not equal our liabilities, and the bank people will be the only sufferers."

Yesterday afternoon the bank filed an assignment of all real estate and other property that, under the law, can be turned over to an assignee. Sheriff Coburn, for the benefit of the creditors of the bank. The real estate as mentioned in the exhibit is as follows:

Lots 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24, Coverdale; also lot 9, block 3, Windsor Terrace; lots 15, 16, 17, 18, block 11, Sterling, Colo.; south-west quarter of section 30, township 34, lots 5 and 4, in City of Omaha, subject to mortgage of $4,000; lot 5, in block 11, Omaha View.

During the epidemic of choleric dysentery in Presque Isle county, Mich., last summer there were as many as nine deaths in one day, but not a single death occurred in cases where Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used. In several instances one small bottle of that remedy cured as many as three cases.

MADE HER FOLLOW THE PLOW.

The Reason Why an Iowa Woman Deserted Her Husband.

"They acted like kids when I got them together."

"Yes, like two sisters who had been separated for years. It was ten minutes before I could get them apart."

This is the brief description of the meeting between Frank Soukup and his wife at the Windsor hotel yesterday evening.

Five weeks ago Mrs. Soukup left her home near the small town of Essex, in Iowa. She also left her husband, who owns a 280-acre farm, and four children. She didn't leave through jealousy of her husband, but because she didn't think she could live and do as well as she did at home.

She didn't leave through jealousy of her husband, but because she didn't think she could live and do as well as she did at home.

On arriving here she went to an employment agency and secured work as a domestic with Mrs. Davis, corner of Forty third and Farnam streets. She was a plainly dressed but rather good looking woman, thirty-three years old.

When Soukup found his wife had skipped he became excited over the matter and went to a banker, a friend of his in Essex. This gentleman traced the woman to Omaha, and Tuesday evening, with Soukup, came here to locate her.

He went to Chief Seavey and offered to pay $25 to any officer who would find the woman.

Wednesday J. W. Cady, who lives at 1814 1/2 Mary's avenue, heard about the matter, and securing a picture of Mrs. Soukup, went out in search of her. In three hours he found her at Mrs. Davis', and soon afterwards he and his wife, being driven toward the Windsor hotel.

The husband and wife met and the scene mentioned above followed. They remained at the hotel Wednesday night, and yesterday morning Mrs. Soukup, who had not changed her name on coming to Omaha, agreed to return home if her husband would head her 140 acres of the farm. He at once had a contract drawn up to that effect, promised that he would never ask her to perform any more domestic labor, and two hours later, with the Essex banker, left Council Bluffs for their home.

AMUSEMENTS.

The "Highest Bidder" is an English melodrama, with about as simple a plot as was ever introduced into an English story. It is based upon the misfortune of a young man, who, notwithstanding the utmost sincerity of motive, is continually misunderstood; in the end, however, he triumphs. The hero, Jack Hammon, is but an ordinary individual. There are but few people who would weep over his sorrows. Mr. Sothern's conception of the character displays an intermingling of comedy and tragedy. At all times his education is not perfect; but his intelligence and earnestness are beyond dispute. He is most successful in the quieter scenes and soliloquies than he is where it is the intent of the dramatist to cause a laugh. His humor lacks the spontaneity of some who have preceded him. Yet in striving after effect, he fails not called upon to play the clown. His work was, however, generally commended, and was rewarded by a triple recall. The gentleman who is still young, and while having a great many things to learn, seems capable of learning them. To-night, Mr. Sothern gives his admirable impersonation of Lord Chumley.

Manager Miner, of the New Grand Opera House, will tonight perform on Saturday night free of charge to the "Onco a Week" circle, who will present "Among the Breakers" in aid of the fund for the Pennsylvania flood sufferers. The play, which by all means new, is always a favorite, and in this instance particularly well cast, the company including some of Omaha's best amateur talent. Before the performance a short programme, in which several local artists will take part, besides a Canadian lady elocutionist, will be given. All expense will be avoided, and the entire proceeds will be handed over to the fund.

An entertainment representing "Ye Last Daye of Ye Old Tyne Skulle" was given in the vestry room of the First Congregational church last night. There was a very liberal attendance, and the performance given by Mr. Alexander as teacher, and thirty-two of the leading ladies and gentlemen of the church as scholars, was such that it amused the audience and elicited warm applause. After the performance ice cream was served in the school room of the church. The entertainment will be repeated to-night.

Put Back the Tickers.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The stock exchange has resumed its telegraphic quotation service. The final arrangement is that the about were made yesterday afternoon. The Gold and Stock tickers are to be used in offices of members of the stock exchange, while bankers, speculators, and such part of the financial community as may need or desire a telegraphic quotation service, can subscribe for the use of the Commercial tickers, each application for this service having to meet the approval of the stock exchange authorities before being granted. The members of the stock exchange are to receive their quotations from one to two minutes ahead of those sold to outsiders.

Fatal Hotel Fire.

STEVENS, Wis., June 6.—The St. James hotel with all its contents was totally burned last night. Night Clerk Charles Cahill and two of the girls, Maggie Kelly and one known as Nettie, are missing, and there is a likelihood that all three lost their lives. All who escaped saved their lives, but what they had on their persons. A number of traveling men lost their baggage and samples. The loss is $15,000, with an insurance of $10,000.

WORK OF CHARITY.

How it is Occupying the Attention of Omahans.

The citizens of Omaha are responding with commendable generosity to the cry for help from the flooded districts of Pennsylvania. It is expected that within the next ten days in the neighborhood of $10,000 will be raised for the benefit of the sufferers.

For a beginning, the citizens committee, of which William A. Paxton is the chairman, remitted to the governor of Pennsylvania $2,500 Wednesday evening, with instructions to apply the same where most needed.

The committee was out and hard at work yesterday soliciting additional subscriptions, and from every source comes the report of most substantial success.

The general committee on collections for the Johnstown fund met in the board of trade hall yesterday, reported progress and gave further instructions to the sub-committees. C. S. Chase, Thomas Kilpatrick and F. P. Rice, the latter was added to the committee having authority to solicit from the dry goods and shoe men, also the wholesale houses on Harney and Howard streets. The following sums were collected, were reported and turned in:

Head Carriers' Union $25.00 General collection $633.00 Lumber men $205.00 Clothing $238.00 Druggists $181.00 Physicians $132.00 Total $1,283.00

The railroad officials and employees are requested to hand their donations to Joseph Nicholas, of the freight auditor's department at the Union Pacific headquarters.

E. E. Hartlett circulated a petition among the lawyers and got several hundred dollars. Hon. W. J. Connell subscribed $50, a goodly number $10, and the balance $5.

The committee appointed by the Pennsylvania association is also industriously at work, and each and every member is meeting with success commensurate with the pressing necessities of the cause. The names of the committee appear in another part of this article.

It is suggested by Acting Governor T. C. Bruner, that all Pennsylvanians desirous of aiding the afflicted of their native state, who may not be called upon by members of the committee, look up the committee and hand in their subscriptions. Any amount, no matter how small, will be thankfully received. Mr. Bruner says that the association expects to accomplish its share in the work, and that its work will be continued until there is no further call for assistance.

The Y. M. C. A. is also at work, not by the means of an appointed committee, but as a whole, and reports progress. At the main entrance of their rooms is a contribution box, in which all humane and able citizens are requested to deposit their gifts. The receipts of this box have averaged about six dollars per day, but now that the work of the object is so generally understood, it is expected to yield much better results.

Besides the several appointed committees there are many private citizens canvassing the city for contributions. It has been suggested by some of the members of the several committees that caution should be exercised in the bestowal of money and goods, so that nothing may be diverted from the purpose for which it was intended.

It has already been reported that some unknown woman has been calling at the private residences in the suburbs soliciting small sums for the Johnstown sufferers. She has not been authorized to do this, and her motives, it is said, are open to question.

The officers of the express companies report that but a small amount of goods has as yet been left for the flooded districts, but they anticipate a rush of business as soon as the work of the different committees begins to be felt.

But few telegrams have been sent or received at the Western Union offices during the past two days, owing to the almost utter impossibility of getting anything through. Their placard conveying the information that messages will only be accepted subject to indefinite delay, is still displayed at the counter.

Richard Howe has telegraphed friends in this city from Johnstown that his sisters, Lillian and Rose E., alone were saved. All other members of the family were saved.

Manager Levin of the Western Union writes to The Bee as follows: Referring to various inquiries that have been made relative to sending messages free in the interest of the Johnstown sufferers and the transmission of money free in the same interest, I have to say that this company will transmit free the messages of regularly organized committees through some one official of the same, and will not, to transmitting money free we cannot do so, but if the relief committee can make arrangements with banks in Pittsburgh or Philadelphia, we will transmit the messages for them free.

Yesterday morning the wife of Councilman Leary received a telegram from her husband asking the name of the hotel at Holokon, at which their son, who was expected to arrive from Europe on Saturday last, was stopping. The telegram was dated Philadelphia, and it is supposed that at the accident the councilman lost the letters which would have informed him of the place in which he expected to meet his son.

The Pennsylvania society received subscriptions yesterday that increased the total sum raised for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers to $288.

The receipts at the Eden Musee yesterday, which were given for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers, amounted to $107.70.

John P. Leavy, who it was feared had perished in the Johnstown disaster, was reported to have been saved. Mr. Leavy received a telegram from William Leavy, who left here Tuesday for the scene of horror, stating that his brother had been saved. At all times his education is not perfect; but his intelligence and earnestness are beyond dispute.

EAST OMAHA.

The Island Going to Be Boomed by Capitalists.

The appearance of Mr. Ames in this city has wonderfully accelerated the improvements which have for a long time been contemplated on Cut-Off island. It is well known that the greater part of the northern portion of that island is owned by the East Omaha Land company, the object of which is to improve and develop it in the same manner in which the southern part of the city has been improved by the South Omaha syndicate.

The East Omaha people have long been working quietly determining the boundary of their land. This important work has almost been finished and now the B. & M. and Union Pacific roads are building joint tracks to the island. The company will follow these up with paved roads right into this tract. As it appears that a great deal of its completion will be done this year and its completion will be followed by at least half a dozen manufacturing, the owners of which have promised to locate here.

The principal members of this company are Messrs. Perkins, Touzalin, Cushing, Holdrege, Cushing, Kimball, O'Donahoe, Yates and Squires. These hold that this spot is to be the great manufacturing and railroad center of the city. Packing houses are to be encouraged, the river affording an excellent opportunity for the disposal of refuse. By the time these houses shall have been erected, the water works will have been removed to Florence so that the refuse can be run off into the water used for drinking purposes.

The site is accessible to every road, the C. St. P. M. & O., the Missouri Pacific and the Great Northern & Missouri Valley being within a stone's throw of it, and the other two roads now heading for it.

Mr. Ames looked over the ground, and in conversation later, the idea of a great street yards in which all the trains could easily run would be advantages which has not thus far been enjoyed. No extra charges for transportation need be made and delays frequently experienced elsewhere could then be avoided. The matter is assuming form and more will be heard of later.

Lost Both Legs.

YANKTON, Dak., June 6.—Special Telegram to The Bee.—Ole Johnson, about twenty-one years of age, a resident of Nebraska near Yankton, fell from a wagon load of stone yesterday and the wheels of the wagon passing over him his legs were so badly crushed that amputation of both above the knee was necessary. It is thought the operation was successfully performed and the patient may recover.

THE METROPOLITAN BUILDS.

Another Boom in Rapid Transit to the Suburbs.

Negotiations have been concluded between the Metropolitan Cable and the New York Central Trust companies whereby the former is now enabled and will at once proceed to construct its lines in this city. The latter corporation has purchased $500,000 worth of the bonds of the former and taken a first mortgage security. An army of men and teams will be put to work on the construction within the next ten days, and the company expects to have cars running over every foot of its franchise before snow flies. The main line, running from Fourteenth and Douglas streets to Dundee Place, about four miles, will be completed first. Contracts have been let for cars, iron, machinery and the erection of a power house.

CHANGING TERMINALS.

Evanson Sends a Delegation to Oppose the Undertaking.

A committee of Union Pacific railway employees residing at Evanson, Wyo., arrived in Omaha yesterday, for the purpose of prevailing upon the management not to make the proposed change in the terminal of that division. The terminal facilities at present, and since the road was built, have been maintained at Evanson, but the Union Pacific management has decided to make Green River the terminal. The railroad men claim that they have invested the earnings at Evanson in houses and property, and that to change the division terminal to Green River would compel them to move their effects to that point. They also stated that the company recently platted forty acres at Evanson and disposed of it to individuals who purchased under the impression that no change would be made in the terminal. The committee will consult General Manager Kimball, in view of preventing the move.

Proceedings of the School Board.

Messrs. Persons, VanAken, Hoban, Slat and Robinson were present when the board of education met Wednesday evening to act on the bids to do the improvement work on the high school building. After considerable discussion about the advisability of expending the amount of money required by the bids in the building it was decided to build according to the plans and specifications, and the contract was awarded to Eggers & Book at their bid of $30,956 with stone, or without stone at $30,336. Messrs. J. C. Carroll and W. J. Slat were appointed to wait on the city council to have L street graded between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets. J. N.
