

ENOUGH OF THE HUTS.

No More of the Little Chicago Ready-Made Houses to be Ordered.

CHARITY MAKING THE MEN LAZY.

The Cambria Iron Works Anxious to Have the Commissary Removed.

JOHNSTOWN STORES DOING VERY WELL

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—There have been 646 applications for houses. It has been decided to give every family having more than four children two of the small houses.

No more of the Chicago huts have arrived. Governor Beaver approved the suggestions of the Finance Committee, and no more will be ordered. He telegraphed the committee to have Master Carpenter Hughes build the houses. The Finance Committee did not take any action on the Governor's telegram, but the houses will be built in the future.

The committee discussed the advisability of sending representatives from the boroughs to see the Governor about the distribution of the money. If the boroughs are not satisfied with the money, it is distributed. The election of representatives will be held on Saturday. There will be two from each borough and these men will be in summer. They will be delegated to consult with Governor Beaver.

It is not believed the boroughs will consolidate, outside of Conemaugh and Millville. The others are said to be willing, but as big works are located in these places the people do not care to give up a good thing. Another source of opposition to the scheme is the borough officers who have no desire to lose their identity. They prefer to be kings of little hamlets rather than citizens of a big city.

The furniture in the Chicago houses arrived to-day. Some of it was unaltered and the people are pleased. If the houses were larger the unfortunate citizens would be happier.

NOT DOCTORS OF THE DOCTORS.

The Red Cross Society Working with the Local Physicians.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—The Cambria County Medical Society met this afternoon and appointed a committee to draw up a series of resolutions to the memory of Dr. Brinkley, Wilson and Marburg, the members of the society lost in the flood. A vote of thanks to Dr. Lee and the State Board of Health, Major Silliman, Sheriff McCandless and Dr. Johnson, of the military, and all other physicians who helped them after the disaster was passed.

Dr. Horton, of the Red Cross Society, made a statement in which he said the society had come here to work with the local doctors, and whenever they have a patient who has a family doctor they will turn the patient over to him. They have no desire to deprive the patient of his family doctor. A committee was appointed to write resolutions commending the society for its good work, and Dr. Horton's statement was accepted. Major Silliman stated that the State would hand over the Bedford street hospital and the medical stores next Wednesday. The society decided to keep the hospital open for awhile, and Drs. Sheridan, Wagner and Homer will have charge of it.

MAKES THE MEN LAZY.

The Cambria Iron Company Wants the Commissary Removed Soon.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—About 800 men, including department officers, make up General Hastings' force at present. The list of workmen employed by the contractors is 1,800, and this number will be maintained for awhile.

Judge Masters, of the Cambria Iron Works, thinks the commissary should be removed as soon as possible. It is making the people lazy. He says the Cambria Iron Company can't get enough men to do the work.

LOOKING AFTER THEIR FUNDS.

Contributing Cities Sending Representatives to Distribute The Money.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—Mr. Cullom, representing the citizens of St. Paul, was here to-day conferring with the various committees about the distribution of that city's funds. He went to Harrisburg to see the Governor about it. He declined to say much, but he wants to see that the money is properly distributed. Representatives of other cities are looked for, and the local committees will be glad to welcome them.

NO SITE YET SELECTED.

The Cambria Iron Company in Doubt Where to Rebuild the Gantner Mills.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—The directors of the Cambria Iron Company met again to-day, but they did not decide where they will rebuild the Gantner works.

It was rumored the wire mill would be put up at Conemaugh and the steel mill near Sheridan station.

The Losses Reported Yesterday.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—The following losses were reported to-day: Joseph Kunz, $5,000; E. A. Lloyd, 10 houses, $20,000; Lloyd & Jones, dead estate of Dr. Howe, $65,000; Mrs. L. P. Letzinger, $8,000; J. G. Bergman, $5,000; Thomas Morgan, $5,000; J. H. Decker, $2,000; B. Kearney, $2,000.

Work of the Red Cross Society.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—Mrs. Hammond, of the Red Cross Society, started to-day with 18 women for Ashbury Park. Two men and a lady of the German branch of the society in Milwaukee have arrived and offered their services.

An Excellent Indication.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—The stores are doing an immense business. They are crowded all day long with buyers, and this is one of the strongest indications that the people are awake and fast recovering from the disaster.

The Body of John Ross Found.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—Seven bodies were recovered to-day. John D. Ross, the cripple of Pittsburgh, was found along the railroad under a car. Another was recognized as that of Tiny Jacoby. The rest are unknown.

Little Johnny Burns Discovered.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—Little Johnny Burns was discovered to-day by one of the officers. His mother is dead and Johnny had been sleeping under the platform. General Hastings took charge of him.

No Date Yet for a Hong Service.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. JOHNSTOWN, June 27.—General Hastings has not decided on a day for the service of Hong. He approves the idea, but he can't tell when he will be ready to leave Johnston.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS.

Ex-Minister Phelps Delivers an Address on Our Foreign Relations.

BOSTON, June 27.—At the meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity at Harvard to-day Edward J. Phelps, late minister to England, delivered the principal address. Mr. Phelps' oration dealt largely with international affairs. He was closely listened to and frequently interrupted by applause. The speaker combated the theory of the Earl of Lytton that principles of morality have no control in the intercourse of nations; that governments are neither capable of nor amenable to ethical rules, and are to be guided only by consideration of expediency, and that obligations based upon the material rights of man have no place in determining the rules of international action. He declared that the time had come when a consistent, distinctive and definite American policy in international relations should be established, one that would not change with the exigencies of politics. It should prefer right to expedient, should be neither aggressive nor offensive, fair toward others while just to ourselves, invading no right we ourselves would not surrender, and establishing no precedent we may afterward wish to evade.

Upon the line thus deliberately adopted the stand should be absolutely firm and unyielding. He should prefer right to expedient, should be neither aggressive nor offensive, fair toward others while just to ourselves, invading no right we ourselves would not surrender, and establishing no precedent we may afterward wish to evade.

A STORY SHAKING JONAH'S.

One More Undertaken With Something New About the Flood.

A peculiar case was reported in Allegheny yesterday. A man visited the Allegheny General Hospital and asked to have the stamp of his arm dressed, which request was complied with. When asked how the arm had been injured the stranger said that he had gone from his country home to Allegheny to buy goods, and was detained at Altoona by the flood. He had a horse and a dog, and was on the Allegheny Valley Railroad. Near Driftwood the train stopped, and with a companion the man wandered about the woods for a day.

After a night in the woods he started to find something to eat, and reached a cabin where two women were engaged to him. He asked for something to eat, and one of the women carried a shotgun. He asked her to load it, and found a country doctor his arm had to be amputated. After a week or so he reached Allegheny. The story is almost mysterious.
