

A SHOT IN HIS HEAD

Ends the Troubles of Bereaved John Snider, of Johnstown.

GOOD WORK OF THE RED CROSS

In This the Twelfth National Calamity in Which It Has Served.

JOHNSTOWN'S EMPTY CITY TREASURY

Cincinnati's Committee Places Money at Mr. McMillan's Call.

John Snider, who lost wife and children in the flood, shoots himself in a fit of melancholy.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

JOHNSTOWN, July 27.—This afternoon Mr. John Snider purchased a self-cocking Smith & Wesson revolver at the hardware store of Bantley & Frounizer, and after loading it turned to leave the store.

THE RED CROSS SOCIETY

recently erected a two-story building, 45x100 feet, on the site of the Episcopal Church that was swept away.

Mrs. Clara Barton, the President of the society, has been giving her whole time to relieving the wants of the distressed here, and it was through her instrumentality that this project was brought to an early completion.

At the dedication Mrs. Clara Barton, President of the Association, referred to the work which the society was doing, and stated that the Johnstown disaster was the twelfth great national calamity at which the Red Cross had established permanent headquarters.

AN EXHAUSTED TREASURY

Council at its last meeting approved bills amounting to $1,050,338, chiefly for the payment of the deficit of the Board of Commissioners.

Tom L. Johnson, Chairman of the Board of Inquiry, who is to report to-day, said that the board proposed to urge the prompt payment of all funds on hand, and said the State Committee, at its meeting next week, would be asked to distribute the money as quickly as possible.

A dispatch from Cincinnati says: "The Chamber of Commerce Committee, having in charge the relief fund for the benefit of the Johnstown sufferers held a meeting yesterday and closed up their business. There was present of the committee: President Thomas Morgan, Mayor John B. Morton, and Frank W. Buskirk. Mr. John B. Morton, who has been the clerk of the committee, reported a balance remaining on hand of $2,066 1/4. A motion was then made and unanimously carried that the subscription books be closed and that the amount in hand be turned over to the committee placed subject to the order of Chairman McMillan of the relief fund at Johnstown, and Clerk Morton was directed to notify that gentleman of the action of the Chamber of Commerce Committee. The committee then adjourned sine die.

A POSTOFFICE FIGHT

Content Among the People of Salem, O., for Federal Favors.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. SALEM, O., July 27.—The location of the postoffice is causing a great deal of content among our extensive property owners.

Some years ago the postoffice was removed from a building on East Main street, owned by Ira F. Brainerd, one of Pittsburgh's largest live stock dealers, to one of the rooms in J. T. Brooks' block, on Broadway.

This angered the Main street people, but their rage did not take tangible shape until recently, when it was decided to build a new Opera House some distance east of the present center of business on East Main street and rehabilitate the old American Hotel adjacent. Some of the parties went to Washington to push the claims of the last named place, and their proposition has been accepted. The postoffice will be removed about November 1.

It is a large first-class hotel on Broadway to compete with Hotel Greiner, which is also owned by the East Main street people, and the one they are about to remodel. Mr. Brooks is chief of counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, and it is supposed he is the largest property owner in Salem.

WAPAKONETA, O., July 27.—Four more oil wells, located on the Numburg, Harshberger, Blackburn and Doering farms, near Buckland, 4 1/2 miles northwest of Wapakoneta, have been drilled in, resulting in an average output of over 300 barrels daily.

The first two have a capacity of over 500 barrels. Wells were commenced to-day on the Armerius Billie, William Walker and James Howley farms. These wells are in the center of the active operations in the field.

Fined $10 for Profanity.

MEDIA, July 27.—Mary Williams, of Bancroft's Lower Bank, known as "Queen of the Dirty Dozen," was before Justice Preston to-day charged with profanity. She was charged to cease an oath, and at this rate her profanity bill amounted to over $10. She did not have that amount of change in her pockets, and the "Squire sent her to jail to work it out.

Centerfelt Dollars in a Sewer.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WHEELING, July 27.—While workmen were opening up a sewer which had become stopped up in the business part of the city to-day about two dozen centerfelt silver dollars were found. It is supposed there is a large amount of the queer in the sewer and that the manufacture of the stuff has been carried on somewhere in the vicinity.

The Making of a Christian Scientist.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. BRANSON, July 27.—Mrs. Mary Hawk, a prominent disciple of the Christian Science doctrine, has become violently insane over the doctrine and was removed to the State Hospital for the Insane at Warren, Pa. She professed to be in constant communion with Christ and in trances enters into heaven.

VACANCIES MUST BE FILLED.

Write for the Election to Fill the Senatorial Places to be Issued.

MEDIA, July 27.—There is no longer any doubt about the election to fill Collector Cooper's vacated seat in the Senate being held this year, and after all the discussion in the county papers in regard to the matter it remained for the Senatorial candidates, to discover that a clause in article 2, section 2, of the Constitution governing vacancies, makes it mandatory upon the presiding officer of either house to issue writs for elections to fill vacancies whenever they occur.

Continued Complaints About the American Exhibit at the Paris Exposition—A Soldier in Charge, but Not a Veteran in the Business.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Complaints continue to come from different persons as to the representation of the United States at the Paris Exhibition. A gentleman who attended the exhibition in which our display at Paris was organized, and also of the distribution of the fund appropriated by Congress for that purpose, has this to say: "The reports as to the character of the United States display at Paris are undoubtedly exaggerated, but there is a good foundation in truth for most of them. The primary difficulty unquestionably lies in the fact that General Franklin, who was chosen to be the Commissioner General on the part of the United States, did not have an adequate conception of what was required of him, and did not accept of those who had the proper knowledge of what ought to be done. General Franklin, at the very beginning, had an idea that no expenditure of any kind should be incurred without his personal approval. He placed all sorts of red tape regulations about the preparation of the goods and the shipment of them and the arrangement of them after they arrived on the ground, just as he would have done had he been conducting a military campaign.

"He was parsimonious in some of his expenditures where money was most needed, and he was too liberal in other directions where the United States would not be so much benefited. He selected, or more strictly speaking, consented to the appointment of some very competent assistants, but where they were not able to do what was expected of them, and it is known that some of them who are most experienced in the management of affairs of this sort went to Paris thoroughly disgraced.

"It is known that one or two of the men most prominent in Paris in connection with the exhibition were inclined to withdraw wholly from any connection with it when they found that they were almost entirely without any authority, and were compelled to submit to military rule discipline. These gentlemen were not, of course, make any statement of this sort for publication so long as they occupy their present official relations, but they have said these things privately, and undoubtedly would reiterate them if officially called upon by authorized persons. That, unquestionably, is the reason for the just complaints which have been made against our exhibit in Paris.

EVIDENCES OF A CRIME.

Suspicious Carriage Tracks, a Pool of Blood and a Gag Found Near a River.

LAWRENCE, MASS., July 27.—In an unfrequented lane, leading off the Haverhill turnpike in Methuen, four miles from this city, early yesterday morning, were found suspicious tracks, while four rods from the road, in the bushes, was discovered a pool of fresh human blood.

A second blood stain was seen near by and a trail of blood drops led to the main road. Under a bush was found a lady's handkerchief, which had been found in the bushes, and had apparently been used as a gag. It bore certain laundry marks, and was turned over to the police, who are investigating several persons who have recently been attacked near this spot while driving at night, and no doubt a crime has been committed. The spot where the blood trail ends is only a few rods from the river. There could be no legitimate errand to take a carriage where the tracks were visible. People in the vicinity are much excited.

GENERAL KILPATRICK DEAD.

He Was a Heroic in Strength and Almost Eight Feet in Height.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. BRIDGEVILLE, Pa., July 27.—General John Kilpatrick, one of the most conspicuous figures in political circles in this State in his day, died today at his home, in Harbor Creek, at the age of 68. General Kilpatrick was a Brigadier General of Militia during the railroad war at Erie in 1854. Deceased was the nephew of the company and was arrested by the United States Marshal and imprisoned for three months. He took a company of three months men into service during the late war at his own expense. He was a giant in stature and a Hercules in strength. He stood almost eight feet high.

WM. VANCE SUICIDES.

He Was Discouraged by Losses and Leaves a Wife and Family.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. AKRON, OHIO, July 27.—William Vance, aged 52 years, who came to this city from Wayne county a few months ago, succeeded last night by taking strychnine. He owned a large farm near here, but had had losses. Part of his land was sold to pay his obligations. He has been dependent on his wife for some time, having once been well-to-do. He acted peculiar last night and insisted on putting his little girl to bed himself, several times returning to her room to kiss her good night. Soon after midnight he was a corpse. The widow is left with eight children.

STRUCK BY A TARGET.

Brakeman Harry James Struck on an Engine Shop and Hit His Head.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEWARK, O., July 27.—To-day Harry James, brakeman on a B. & O. freight, was hit by a switch target at New Haven, on the Lake Erie division, and his skull crushed. He resided here, was married and was returning home. He will die. At the time of the accident he was standing on the steps of the engine and did not notice the switch. The shock to his wife was terrible, and she went with grief and sorrow to her husband's bedside.

A HORSE'S HEELS AND LAUDANUM.

Make Things Easy for the Grim Reaper of Humanity.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. MARTIN'S FERRY, July 27.—David McMaster, aged 19 years, was killed by a horse at Mt. Pleasant last night and will die. George Monte, a machanic, swallowed an ounce of laudanum this evening and may die. He says he took it for pains in the stomach, and did not intend to suicide. He is married.

Arrested for Horse Stealing.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WARREN, O., July 27.—Willis Clark, a prominent and well-to-do young farmer of Bristol, was today extradited on a requisition to answer for stealing a team of ponies from a Parker, Dak., livestock man. Clark claims to have traded for the team with a stranger whose name was driving along the road in northern Iowa, but the Dakota livestock man identified him as the fellow who hired the ponies and failed to return them.
