

BOTH MEN AND MONEY

Badly Needed to Carry on the Necessary Work at Johnstown.

AN APPEAL TO GOVERNOR BEAVER

To Make a Prompt Distribution of the Funds Now on Hand.

ALARMING INCREASE OF DEATH RATE.

All of the Important Events in the Neighboring Communities.

The meeting of Governor Beaver's Relief Commission at Johnstown is looked to with eager expectation. The citizens want an immediate distribution of money and many more men put to work. The great strain is telling on the health of the people.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

JOHNSTOWN, July 30.—The leading question among Johnstown people to-day is what will the State Flood Relief Commission do at its sitting here to-morrow? Governor Beaver and the other members of his commission have concluded to spend a day in the town and the residents here have been hopeful that they may see the situation as it really is and determine to distribute the large fund on hand to those for whom it was intended. It is the general opinion of well-informed citizens here to-night that the Governor has been made to see the need of speedy action, and it is thought that the whole of the fund in his hands will be appropriated for immediate distribution.

It is known that the Pittsburgh members of the commission favor this action, and it is believed that when the others see the situation they will fall in line with the same idea. If the large sum that is still in the hands of the commission is appropriated some more rapid means of getting it in the hands of the people can easily be devised, and the whole business can be wound up inside of a couple of weeks.

ONE OTHER FEATURE.

Another question to which the people are giving more thought now than any other except the distribution of the money, perhaps, is to what extent State or national aid may be expected in clearing up the rivers. It has come to be considered a certainty that the larger part of the work will never amount to anything if the rivers are not cleared out or the banks walled up to prevent the annual overflow of water, and the question of bringing the matter properly before the National Government for aid in this direction is being carefully considered.

It also appeared that after Governor Beaver has looked at the town to-morrow he will give some indication as to what further assistance the State will render in cleaning up. From the fact that the force of workmen was reduced last week, there is a strong belief that the Governor contemplates closing up the work by the State soon. It is hoped, however, that when the Governor sees the actual condition of things he will decide to clean out the cellars in the flooded districts, and if that is to be properly done, those who are in a position to know say that a force of 5,000 men should be put to work at once.

It is very evident that a larger force can be worked with much less trouble now than in the early days of the flood. The men are now in the morning to present these and other matters to the commission, but it is likely everything will be left to the judgment of the committee.

FOUND IN THE DEBRIS.

A force of men was at work in the Conemaugh river back of the company offices to-day and unearthing the remains of a locomotive and an iron bridge, nearly all intact, both of which were covered over with sand and logs.

Rev. D. J. Beale, D. D., in replying to some strictures made on the methods of keeping the morgue books, stated that he has a carefully prepared statement of every case coming to them. It breaks together with notes and other data which would likely give some information to the friends of the deceased persons. The records are open for all to see, and any one interested, and can always be seen at No. 165 Lincoln street.

EMIGRATED FROM JOHNSTOWN.

The Pitiful Appearance of a Family Who Are Now in Cleveland. A peculiar coyness halled in front of the City Hall this morning. A woman plainly dressed and a little girl about 15 years of age were tagging along at a rickety and dust-covered hand cart in which were seated two bright looking children with sunburned faces and ragged clothes. The woman grasped the handle of the cart with her left hand, while her right arm was clasped about an infant who was a few months old. The outfit presented a somewhat dilapidated appearance, and the little party gave evidence of a long and weary travel. The woman said she had been directed to the Mayor's office.

A LIVELY CONVENTION.

Republicans Endorse the Administration, but Struggle over the Nominations.

HUNTINGDON, July 30.—The Republican County Convention held here to-day contained a full representation, owing to the bitter contest over the nomination for Sheriff. It was very all through. Thomas M. Oaks of Huntingdon, a three time defeated candidate, was nominated on the first ballot for Sheriff over H. C. Beck, of Warrior's Mark, who was supported by the soldier element. E. O. Heck of Cromwell township, was nominated for Poor Director. O. B. Crum, of Huntingdon, and James A. Boyer of Cromwell, were elected delegates to the State Convention, and instructed to H. K. Boyer for State Treasurer and W. A. Andrews, of Meadville, for State Chairman.

BY BURNING THE BASTILE.

The Prisoners in the Uniontown Jail Hop to Secure Their Liberty.

UNIONTOWN, July 30.—A bold attempt was made last night by the prisoners confined at this place to escape by setting fire to the building, and it was by the merest chance that the flames were discovered and extinguished before they were beyond control. The matter was a plot on the part of a number of prisoners who thought that Turney Marshal Dean would open the doors when the jail was destroyed. The old county asylum is used as a jail and is considered very unsafe, and the attempts to break jail are numerous.

READY FOR THE CONTEST.

Small Coke Operators Order That the Ovens Be All Drawn.

SCOTTSVILLE, July 30.—Some of the smaller coke operators are making preparations for the coming strike by ordering all the coke to be drawn from the ovens to-day and to-morrow, and giving the men instructions not to charge them again until the wage difficulty is settled. Several of fers of assistance were received to-day, and from the present outlook the strikers will be well cared for. One of the leaders said to-day that he knew a great many of the men were so excited financially that they could stand it for six months.

DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. GREENSBURG, July 30.—The large barn of Mrs. Mary Fulton, at Hunkers station, was struck by lightning last night and totally destroyed. The loss will reach $2,500, with an insurance of $400. The barn was full of hay and grain and several head of stock were burned.

RAISED A STORM.

A Set of Resolutions Causes a Howl in a World's Fair Meeting in New York.

Grever Cleaves on a Deck in the Movement.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, July 30.—The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce last week to further the World's Fair project met to-day. Those present included President Charles S. Smith, Alex. E. Orr, President of the Produce Exchange; John F. Plummer, John H. Iman, Cornelius N. Bliss, Charles E. Flint, Eugene Kelly, Orlando B. Potter, Charles M. Fry, J. Edward Simmons, E. H. Ammidown, Clarence Bowen, John D. Jones, Jesse Seligman, John D. Crimmins, Captain Ambrose Snow and W. P. Clyde. In calling the meeting to order President Smith said that success in the project was what they all wanted. The financial question was the overshadowing one, and before that could be settled the question of location is attended to. He believed that the way out could be depended upon to name the best men for the committee having these matters in charge.

A set of resolutions was prepared, recommending the appointment of a single committee to which sub-committees should report and be subordinate, and suggesting the names of Mayor Grant, Charles S. Smith, President of the Chamber of Commerce, Grover Cleveland, General William T. Sherman, Alex. E. Orr, President of the State of New York, and Corning N. Bliss, representing the merchants of New York as such committee.

Everyone looked dumbfounded as these resolutions were read, but Mr. Horner went on to explain them, with the desperate earnestness of a man who knows he has put his life in it, and thinks he may as well plunge in as far as possible while he is about it. He said:

I have just seen communications from members of the Cabinet, from Congressmen and from Governors of the States, which indicate that there is a very strong feeling outside of the State of New York, in favor of the Columbus celebration at Washington. It is, therefore, imperative necessary for us who desire to have the celebration in New York, to strengthen our claim by taking such steps and proposing such plans as will give us the confidence and sanction of the people and the Government of the United States. Anything that tends to weaken our claim, or suggests even remotely the possibility of making the celebration of Columbus a party affair, or one man or of any one political faction must necessarily weaken our claim. We cannot, therefore, Mr. President and gentlemen of the committee, too quickly remove all cause of attack from our position, and we are animated by purely patriotic motives.

There was an awkward silence, and then Mr. Bliss said:

They are not only out of order, but very unwise and disrespectful to the Mayor and to the committee he is to appoint. I certainly will not allow my name to be used in such a manner. I would not accept the position suggested for one, under any circumstances whatever, and I hope the resolutions will be laid on the table.

MARION, MASS., July 30, 1888.

DEAR SIR: I have received notice of my selection as one of the members of the committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the discovery of America in the city of New York, and also a request to attend a meeting of such committee at 10 o'clock P. M. to-morrow. I am sorry that I will not be able to attend the meeting, but desire to express my complete sympathy with the movement and the hope that the result may be a celebration in the great city of New York in an appropriate manner. I trust that you will be glad to assist in any possible way.
