HARRISON'S HAPPY FACULTY

Of Alienating People—He Abruptly Refuses to Sign Students' Diplomas—Associate Justice Miller Elected in His Stead.

(Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—There is a good deal of warmth among the Republicans of the District of Columbia over the avowed purpose of the administration to appoint Robert C. Blaine, brother of the secretary of state, register of wills here. The place is now held by Dorset Claggett, a member of an old district family, whose long and property interests have always been centered here.

Blaine was appointed some years ago from Pennsylvania as a clerk in the department of agriculture and held the place all through the Cleveland administration. He has never accomplished any thing political, but has shown many talents in the discharge of his duties. Few politicians of prominence have heard of his existence. The local leaders are saying that such an appointment would be a great honor to the city. Harrison's repeated declarations in favor of home rule, and are asking if Mr. Blaine controls every office in the gift of the government as well as those in the gift of the state, and are certainly shown a skill in picking out places for his relatives and friends, which goes far to justify his old time reputation for "casting an anchor to windward."

(Special to THE HERALD—Examiner Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, June 10.—Securities, valued at over $3,000,000, together with books and papers not easily replaceable were taken from the residence of the late Hon. A. A. Barling, who was in Europe last April. The deed was committed in broad daylight. Barling's office is at No. 43 South street. A little before noon, April 28, while Edward H. Green and several clerks were busy at their desks, an elderly woman dressed plainly in black accompanied by a middle aged man with closely cropped hair, and a young woman and a man with a beard, entered the office quietly and demanded that Barling's safe be opened and all the securities, books, papers, etc., pertaining to the estate of the late Edward H. Green, be removed to the north wing. The woman did the talking, her language being emphatic and peremptory, and frightened the clerks who appeared to her superior in the office. Green was visibly agitated. The woman repeated the demand and Mr. Green's agitation increased. There a few more words, whereupon the man and woman turned and fled in several directions, leaving the woman waiting at the door. The clerks looked on and the man and woman who had departed by the front door, they made no effort to check them or to arrest them.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Assistant Secretary Chandler, sitting with Assistant Attorney-General Shields, today heard arguments upon several motions filed from time to time by the Northern Pacific for a rehearing in between two hundred and three hundred cases in which the question involved were substantially the same as in the celebrated Galifford-Miller case, in which it was held by Secretary Vaux, August 2, 1888, that the sixth section of the granting act prohibited any indemnity for withdrawal, and there was no authority of law for filing a map of the amended general route.
