IN BUSINESS HAUNTS

Another Sugar Famine is Rapidly Approaching.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE MEETING.

Another Healthy List of Real Estate Transfers—A Northern Industry—A New Mining Company.

The sugar market is still close, there being only a "hand-to-mouth" supply. "I don't want to borrow trouble—I'd rather borrow sugar, just now—but there is no doubt we shall see the scenes of a year ago repeated," said a Main street dealer yesterday."

The Utah produce exchange holds a meeting to-day at 1:30, when, it is probable, directors will be chosen for the ensuing year, and other important business transacted.

A Northern Industry.

There are no less than twelve cheese manufactories in the valley running this season. Should they average 10,000 pounds each—which is a very low estimate—the twelve will aggregate 120,000 pounds which will sell at 10 cents per pound and will amount to the neat little sum of $12,000. Who says the cheese industry is not an important one in this country?—Swan Lake Independent.

Great Ecn on a Well-known Institution.

The famous patent medicine warehouse of Charles N. Crittenton, New York, has recently been subjected to an extraordinary pressure—the pressure of crowds of sufferers from coughs and colds in search of "Hale's honey of Horehound and tar," of which he is the fortunate proprietor. The popularity of the article is boundless, and will last, for it is built on the solid foundation of innumerable cures. Crittenton's establishment might properly be called a saving bank, from the number it has been instrumental in saving from consumption. Trochal affections of every type vanish under its balmy and balsamic influence with astonishing rapidity. Sold by all druggists. Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

THE NEW REGISTER.

The appointment of Mr. Hoyt Sherman to be register of the Salt Lake land office was entirely unexpected to all save a few who understood that the gentleman was an applicant for the place and that he was well backed by political influence. The appointment seems to give general satisfaction. Mr. Sherman has resided here for many years, and has many warm personal friends. He is eminently well qualified for the place. The gentleman was out of town, somewhere in Idaho, when the news came, but it is understood that he will return to-day, and assume his new duties as soon as his commission arrives.

Our musical friends should be on the alert for unusually fine selections of music which will appear in future issues of this paper. "The Watermill" will appear in an early issue of THE SUNDAY HERALD.

A Summer Arrangement.

Jones—So you and Katie have fallen out. Can't you make up with her?

Brown—Not till the ice cream season is past. I've no money to waste on that luxury, so I turn my cold shoulder toward her during the summer. It is the best I can afford to do.—Omaha World.

Met a Deceiver.

"That's the way with some of these aristocrats," he observed, as he leaned against a telegraph pole and held a wet rag to his eye. "They are full of deceit from top to bottom."

"How did it happen?" asked the pedestrian who had halted to offer his sympathies.

"Two blocks down—house a red brick. I called to strike the woman for a quarter. Man sat on the steps. He looked thin and pale and weak. Wanted to know what I was after, you know. Looked upon him as small potatoes and advised him to keep quiet. He jumped up and shed his coat."

"Was that all?"

"Not quite. Ordered me to git. I couldn't see it."

"Was that all?"

"Not quite. Squared off and knocked me into the middle of next week, and then picked me up and threw me over the fence into the street. Blamed deceiver, he was. Had muscle like an ox, and he put up his dukes just as handy as Sullivan. Say, stranger, did he black both my eyes?"—Detroit Free Press.

Mission Dolores.

"What is your mission here, sir?" asked the old man, with a frown.

"I am on three missions, sir," replied the poor young man, who was also a humorist.

"Well, what are they?" inquired the old man impatiently.

"Per-mission to marry your daughter, admission to your family circle and sub-mission to the regulations of your household."

"Ugh!" grunted the old man, who was something of a joker himself. "I have one little mission to offer before I conclude any arrangements with you."

"Name it," cried the poor young man eagerly. "I will only be too glad to perform it."

"Dis-mission!" shrieked the old man with a loud, discordant laugh, and the poor young man fell dead at his feet.—Washington Critic.

That's Different.

I asked her if she'd take a stroll,
She said she didn't care.
I asked her if she'd take my arm,
She said she didn't care.
I carelessly remarked "How warm!"
She said she didn't care.
"Let's take the opera in," said I,
She said she didn't care.
"What seats do you prefer I'd buy?"
She said she didn't care.
Quoth I, when going home, "Ice cream?"
She said she didn't care.
"Oh, do I wake, or do I dream?"
She said she didn't care.
"Oh, will you be my bonny bride?"
She said she didn't care—to have
More than one husband at a time.
—Minneapolis Tribune.

Not a Complete Separation.

"Johnny," said his mother, "I don't want you to play with that little Brownjones boy any longer; do you hear?"

"Yes'm," said Johnny.

"Now, don't let me hear of you disobeying me!"

"No'm," said Johnny, dutifully; "but I may fight him, mayn't I, if I want to?"—Punch.

THE RUINS OF JOHNSTOWN.

Pennsylvania To-day Takes Charge of the Work of Clearing Them.

JOHNSTOWN, June 11.—The impending change in the control of the town, the exodus of workmen and the flood of survivors and steady rain have combined to make Johnstown quiet to-day. At all the headquarters work has been narrowed down to the finest possible character and a good many faithful men are getting the rest they needed long ago.

To-morrow Mr. Scott throws down the reins of government and Adjutant General Hastings takes hold. At least $100,000 will be paid out to workmen to-morrow morning, and the majority of it will leave town with the men who earned it. The new leaders claim to have a number of plans to introduce by which the work of clearing up the wreckage and caring for the survivors will be greatly systematized and simplified. The military will be retained.

Good progress was made in clearing out the channel of Conemaugh above the bridge to-day. A number of stationary engines and long cables are being used to pull out the heavy timbers. The morgues are about to be abandoned on account of the bad condition of the bodies now being recovered. Identification is almost impossible, unless by personal effects found upon the bodies.

The state board of health still issues encouraging bulletins, although isolated cases of pneumonia and measles are reported generally from suburbs.

A spirit of recovery took firm hold on Johnstown's citizens to-day. Everywhere the owners of property were hard at work cleaning out cellars, drying carpets and bedding and inaugurating a general renovation.

General Hastings this evening said: "The work of cleaning up the city will be done by contract, and negotiations will be opened at once with leading contractors. Several may be employed, but I can't say who will get the work at this time. Until a commission is appointed, Scott has volunteered his services and will render all the assistance in his power."

Quartermaster Baker started out to-day to canvass Johnstown proper, in order to classify those who need provisions. To-night the men turned in 1,187 names, and the city was not nearly all visited. Baker says it is surprising the amount of need that was unearthed. A great many ladies were found whose families were really suffering, and had failed through a sense of delicacy to apply for aid. The humiliation of seeking relief is removed by the system now being introduced. The expectation is that the food and clothing which have been going in large lots to undeserving persons, will now go to the more respectable and retiring class.

E. S. Oliver, of Philadelphia, who is in charge of the storehouse established in the German Catholic church, said: "Twenty carloads of provisions and clothing were unloaded there to-day. Enough clothing is arriving in Johnstown to supply the city for two years."

Thirty bodies were recovered to-day, all being in an advanced state of decomposition. In one or two instances maggots were at work on them, and the flesh was so soft that extreme care was necessary or the limbs would be torn from the trunks.

This afternoon the body of Miss C. A. Christman, the foreign missionary from New Orleans, who was on the fated day express, was found. Her body was embalmed and placed in a handsome casket to await the disposition of friends. She was a woman of fine appearance, and was finely dressed in a light brown dress with braided front. On her person was found a draft for $275, a valuable gold watch and a small amount of money.
