

AFTER THE BATTLE.

Sullivan All Right, But Kilrain, How is He?

MISSISSIPPI REQUISITION THEM

John Will Fight no More—Jake Was Sick When He Entered the Ring, But Sicker When He Left It.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 9.—William Muldoon, the wrestler, who trained Sullivan for the fight, had this to say to an Associated Press reporter to-day, when asked his opinion of the fight: "My impression is that it was the greatest fight that ever took place between heavy weights. The fighting was fast and furious all through, and I don't think the man was ever better than he was during the fight. He was as strong as when the fight commenced, and could have fought two hours longer if necessary. He refrained from fast and needless fighting by my advice, as I did not want him to meet with any accidents. I consider Kilrain the greatest heavy weight fighter living outside of Sullivan. He is a game, determined fellow, and I think if he had fought according to his own judgment instead of taking the cowardly and tricky advice of the men who were behind him, he would not have been killed by the people present and the American public would have more to admire in him to-day than at any time since he came into prominence. I think he is in as good condition for a hard fight in this hot climate. He was trained too fine and soon became very weak. I allowed my man seven rounds to lose in the fight, and after that he was never the same. He had one quarter pound lighter than when he entered the ring. He was not a bit tired, was cheerful and in no way injured. My advice to him is to live the balance of his life as easy and never again enter the ring as a principal. He is now restored to perfect health and may yet live long and enjoy good health, if he will only take care of himself. If he has no one to blame for it but himself, I have always been anxious to prove to the public that he is a natural-born fighter and could fight a long and scientific battle if necessary. I have never seen a man so handled and put into condition. Now that I have done that, I am through forever with all ring fights. I never again want to see a man knocked about and punished as Kilrain was yesterday. I think boxing is a grand exercise, and will do all that I can to encourage it, but I think fighting is too brutal, and I want to see no more of it."

Sullivan Won't Face Fox's Belt.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 9.—Sullivan says he will not accept Fox's belt either for his own dog or himself, feeling it unnecessary in establishing the fact that he is the champion pugilist. He will remain here several days as a guest. This evening he will be given a reception by the Young Men's Athletic club.

Investigating Colorado Officials.

DENVER, July 9.—It is learned that most of the time of the present grand jury has been occupied in investigating the charges of corruption made against certain state officials and members of the last legislature regarding the purchase of furniture for the legislative building, stationery and other supplies for the members of the assembly and the public printing, which, during the ninety days' session, aggregated the sum of $1,000,000. The grand jury is in the absence of Secretary of State James Rice, who is east, the grand jury demanded of his deputy, J. J. Wyatt, the keys to the vaults of the state treasury, which were stored for the purpose of continuing their investigations. Mr. Wyatt disregarded the demands of the jury and was arrested for contempt. To-day the grand jury before Judge Stone of the criminal court, found guilty and sentenced to ten days' imprisonment in the county jail and fined $100. His honor concluded by saying that he would return the keys before 4 p. m. to-morrow. It is understood that the defendant will carry the matter to a higher court.

Before the cross-examination witness said he had been taken into the court house yard by Officer Collins before coming into court to see if he could recognize the prisoner.
