A DEAL OF WORK DONE

THE DEBRIS DISAPPEARING BEFORE THE PICK AND SHOVEL.

Owners of Dwellings at Johnstown Begin to Clean Out Their Houses—Storekeepers are Also Trying to Recover Their Goods.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 11.—Another twenty-four hours has passed, and after a trip over the entire flooded district it is apparent that a vast amount of work has been accomplished. Places that appeared to be insurmountable are gradually falling away before the energetic work which is being done. Gangs of men will commence on a block of debris, work in opposite directions, and more wagons having been secured, the debris is rapidly disappearing.

Owners of houses have commenced cleaning out their own residences in Johnstown, and when they request, as they frequently do, the foreman of a gang to allow his men to help they are never refused. Storekeepers are also commencing to take their goods from the general wreck to the creek to clean them, to see what they can recover from the effects of the flood. Of course there are many sad hearts and weeping eyes in families as they find articles that in their happy homes before the flood belonged to loved ones, but with brave hearts they are smothering their intense grief, and have apparently resolved that Johnstown shall be herself again; and the prediction is now being freely made that by the first day of July the city will present a very active appearance. Houses that have not been damaged very much are already being repaired, and as a consequence there is much better feeling prevailing all around now that the solid sense of this community is coming to the front.

Rev. Beal states, relative to discontinuing all of the morgues but one, "that the committee had thought of doing so, but the squads of men carrying the dead bodies object to carrying them so far, saying they cannot possibly do it, as the stench is becoming very bad. We therefore have concluded to have the morgues at the Presbyterian Church, the First ward school building and the Fourth ward school buildings continued. The time is almost here that they will all have to be discontinued, as the bodies are getting in such condition that as soon as they are found we can only take their trinkets from them and what is in their pockets to be preserved for their friends."

At 9 o'clock last night twenty-six huge bonfires lighted up the valley and mountain sides for miles around. The piles of wreckage removed from the debris during the day was thus disposed of, making a grand sight. The horrors continue, and there seems no end. Ever since the water receded into its channel, fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, seeking their dead, have wandered up and down amid the ruins.

To-day is no different in this respect from yesterday. At each cry, "They have found another!" these heart-broken searchers hasten toward and anxiously gaze upon the features of the dead. Every now and then is heard a wail of distress, sometimes rising almost to the pitch of a scream, and again nothing but a sob is heard as a friend or relative is recognized.

Last evening the body of pretty little Jennie Given, aged 15, was discovered. A charge of dynamite loosened the jam of drift, disclosing four bodies. Under the floor of a wrecked building, pinned down by the heavy sills laying across her face and limbs, lay the body crushed almost beyond semblance to humanity. A man elbowing his way through the crowd stood gazing at the mud-covered corpse. His anguish stricken countenance proclaimed him a relative even though he did not speak. As he turned away, after the body was removed, he was asked if he recognized her. His look was as if he could not understand, and his only response was "Poor, poor Jennie."

A department for identification of valuables was established on Main street this morning, with Rev. Mr. Baer in charge.

VIRGINIA POLITICS.

Another Conference of the Anti-Mahone Republicans.

There was a meeting in the parlors of the Ebbitt House this morning of the committee appointed last week by the Wise faction of the Virginia Republicans to wait on the President and lay before him the differences existing between the Wise and Mahone factions. To-day was set apart by the President to receive the committee, but at the time the appointment was made the President forgot that Tuesday was Cabinet day, so he sent word this morning postponing the engagement till to-morrow morning. There was nothing specially transacted at this morning's meeting except a review of the general situation in Virginia.

It was admitted by all that it was imperative that harmony should be secured if the Republican party in the State desired to triumph this fall. THE CRITIC reporter was informed that General Mahone had not replied to the communication addressed him last week. The object of the committee's visit to Mr. Harrison will be to impress upon him the necessity of General Mahone accepting the nomination for Governor. They are willing that Mahone shall dispense the patronage provided he'll make the run for the Governorship. Among those present were General V. D. Groner, chairman; ex-Governor William E. Cameron, John L. Grubbs, W. F. Pumphrey, ex-Representatives Libby and Brady, ex-Senator Riddleberger, Hon. George D. Wise and a number of others.

THE SILENT SUFFERERS

JOHNSTOWN PEOPLE WHO DO NOT SCRAMBLE FOR AID.

The Willard Hall Workers Will Send a Number of Boxes to Individual Residents of the Destroyed City—How the Innovation was Caused.

It was a unique scene in Willard Hall this afternoon. The stage was cleared and a stout gentleman with whiskers, two petite young ladies, one of whom was much more slender than the other, and two studious-looking young gentlemen sat by the back flat in chairs. By turns the quintette talked rapidly in French.

They were one of the superiors and four pupils of the Berlitz School of Languages, and they were rehearsing on the stage a French comedy that they are to give tomorrow night. At the same time a German comedy will also be given. The characters, save one or two, are all to be taken by pupils of the school. The proceeds of the entertainment will go to the flood sufferers.

The work at Willard Hall has taken on a new turn. Heretofore boxes of clothing sent to Johnstown have been addressed to Chairman Scott and distributed through him to needy applicants; but people who have come here from Johnstown have told how there are hundreds of the most deserving sort of people in very destitute circumstances that these gifts never reach. The reason is that these people, who are of good breeding and education, really the cream of Johnstown's society, are prevented by timidity or pride or modesty from entering in the scramble for charity contributions as the grosser elements of the suffering classes do and consequently while the iron workers and their families are well supplied, the bookkeepers and clerks and their families and many other people who were independently wealthy before the flood are more destitute now than those who were the poor people before.

So now, whenever the good people up in Willard Hall learn the name of a family of this sort that is destitute, a box is filled with all sorts of things and shipped to the suffering family direct. This makes more work, but the people about Willard Hall have never given any indications of fear of that hot weather bug-bear, work. Twenty or thirty boxes addressed to individuals will probably be sent on their errands of charity before the day is over. Several of the boxes will go to a Mrs. Weaver.

Mrs. Weaver's house is a big, roomy one on the hill back of Johnstown, and it is now filled from garret to cellar with some of Johnstown's best people. They are destitute, but have, instead of besieging the contributions, set aside for the people who they thought were worse off, and who, less considerate, took everything they could get. The result is that here is a house full of gentlemen and ladies who are absolutely destitute.

The change of plan is largely the result of the visit of George W. Hamilton, assistant superintendent of the Cambria Iron Works, who has been in the city the last two days. He goes back to Cambria to-night to superintend the work of reconstruction. Mr. Hamilton and his family lost about all they had in the world by the flood. His experience enabled him to give some valuable advice about the sending of relief to Johnstown.

Secretary and Treasurer Watkins of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company called on Treasurer Johnson at the relief committee's room to-day. He said there was one case of suffering above Georgetown that he knew of. He has directed his superintendents along the whole line of the canal to find out the extent of the suffering and communicate with him. He thinks that between Williamsport and Harper's Ferry the sufferers have been pretty well taken care of by Baltimoreans. But from Williamsport to Cumberland he thinks there is considerable suffering.

Mrs. Curtis of Hillyer also called to say that there was much suffering about the Great Cacapon, near the Woodmont Fishing Club's house.

Treasurer Johnson telegraph to Colonel Emery to-day as follows:

"WASHINGTON, June 11.

"L. S. Emery, Johnstown, Pa.:

"Telegram received this morning. You will have to determine as to the necessity of your remaining longer. In the absence of any definite information or suggestion as to further relief we can render through you, we are unable to give you any further instructions. E. KURTZ JOHNSON,

"Treasurer."

Collections by the following named have been handed to Treasurer Johnson: Rev. Walter H. Brooks, $57.50; Mrs. Robert G. Rutherford, 10; Mrs. Henry Willard, $5; A. Solomons, $3.30; National Tribune, $10; additional by Wood Bros., $10; from the King's Daughters (canal sufferers), $15; John T. Mitchell, $3; Miss Lenman, $6; Mrs. A. M. Hillyer, $2.25; Dr. Z. T. Sowers, $30; John Miller $70; Luther Place Memorial Church, through George Ryneal, jr., treasurer, $201; additional by Dr. Robert Reyburn, $24; R. M. Drinkard, $64; B. H. Stinemetz, $25.

This afternoon Treasurer Johnson telegraphed Governor Beaver to know where hospital and other stores that have been contributed here and packed ready for shipment should be sent.

One of the most notable contributions that has been made was announced this afternoon. Mr. Wood of Wood Brothers, the liverymen, called on Treasurer Johnson and said that a Mr. Chapman of this city, whose fortune was all invested in Johnstown enterprises and was swept away entirely, had given a team of magnificent sorrel horses, said to be worth $1,000, to the Johnstown sufferers. Mr. Chapin's team will be sold at auction in front of Willard's at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and the proceeds he will turn over to Treasurer Johnson.

The Star's contributions are $4,036.05, and the Post's $4,567.50.

The entertainment recently given by the pupils of Towers' Grammar School will be repeated at Odd-Fellows' Hall, Eighth street southeast, on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the sufferers from the recent floods.

There will be an entertainment for the benefit of the flood sufferers, under the auspices of Washington Labor Organizations, at new Grand Army Hall, to-morrow evening, June 12. Colonel E. B. Hay, Major Stofer, Mr. John Tweedale, Miss Townsend, Miss Westhorpe and the students of Linthicum Institute in "The Plot of Potzentausend" are on the list. Marine Band music. Tickets, 50 cents.

The Ideal Minstrel Troupe performed to crowded house at Willard Hall last night and realized about $200 for the relief fund.

"Nan The Good For Nothing," "My Turn Next," a banjo performance, by Messrs. Williams and Russell and singing by the Glee Club will be the features at next Saturday night's performance at the National, in aid of the flood sufferers along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. The performance promises to be an excellent one.

The Visitors From New York.

A hundred and eighty-six members of the Bee thoven Maennerchor of New York, who have been at the Arlington a couple of days, made a tour of the city in a dozen big omnibusses to-day. They are going back to-night. Yesterday they went down to Mount Vernon. They are a jolly set and made the river banks echo some choice German choruses on their way down the river.

The B. & O. Relief Association.

BALTIMORE, MD., June 11.—Isaac S. Couley to-day filed in Circuit Court No. 2 a bill asking that a receiver be appointed for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Relief Association.

Personal Mention.

Professor August Shroeder of the National Guard Band and a party of friends left yesterday on a week's hunting trip in West Virginia.

Assistant Secretary of State Adee leaves to-morrow for a two months' tour in Europe in quest of health and much-needed rest. He is booked for the City of Paris. Mr. Thomas Sherman, our new Consul to Liverpool, and family will be fellow-passengers on the Paris.

KEMMLER'S EXECUTION.

Interest in the Coming Experiment With Electricity.

NEW YORK, June 11.—As the time approaches for the electrical execution of Kemmler, the Buffalo murderer, the first victim of the new law, interest in the probable failure of the method increases, and already a lawyer is out declaring that the law is void, because unconstitutional. It seems the fact that no man has yet been experimented on, renders the possibilities of a blunder great, for while electricity may have ushered animals into eternity with the desired velocity and neatness, it may result unsatisfactorily in the case of a full-grown murderer.

Thus Kemmler himself is strongly opposed to being the subject of the first experiment, however willing he might be to die by the electrical process when it has been proved painlessly effective. Electricians are not sure that death would be painless under the proposed plan, and a number of lawyers, who hope to see Kemmler lawfully executed, stand ready to prevent the possibility of a "legal murder."

Of quite as much public interest is that provision of the new law which aims to prevent the publication of the details of the execution. Bright, legal minds say that nothing but a member of the New York legislature could have drawn a bill more directly in violation of the State Constitution, which seeks to preserve the freedom of the press. Whether unconstitutional or not, the clause prohibiting newspaper publication of the details doesn't amount to much. All of the editors in New York and Buffalo are getting ready to violate the clause as soon as the current of electricity is turned on the Buffalo murderer.

His execution will be more fully reported and more graphically written about than those performed under the old law, which did not seek to limit the jurisdiction of the newspapers. The accounts will be so full and so complete that each reader may form an opinion as to the success of the electrical method of execution. Just now there seems to be general apprehension lest Kemmler be tortured by an untried, and, perhaps, impracticable experiment and the object of the new law defeated in the very beginning.

It is even predicted now that Kemmler will not be killed the 29th of June, and that the Court of Appeals may withhold its decision till the meeting of the next Legislature, and that perhaps, after all, Kemmler may have to be shot into eternity old style.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

Health Officer Townshend: "I am awfully busy just now, as I start off to-morrow morning on a sanitary investigation. During the warm weather is our busiest time."

Colonel A. T. Britton: "I am in favor of free water. There is no charge for the air we breathe, and there should be none for the water we drink. There should be no such thing as a water tax."

Dr. Hammond: "I see there is some talk about malaria and all that sort of thing. Personally, I don't think there will be any more here, nor as much as in Philadelphia. Wherever there is an inlet of fresh water there is sure to be some malaria."

R. Byrd Lewis: "I have a big damage suit in contemplation against the United States Government in connection with the Potomac flats. It's for taking the dirt out of the bottom of the river and putting it up on top, to get washed away by the flood."

Colonel Roessle of the Arlington: "The Commissioners show their good judgment by suspending the obnoxious Water-meter bill. Any measure so entirely arbitrary in its rulings must be objectionable to all fair-minded men. The order in question announced that water meters must be put in at owner or lessees' expense, and that only a certain kind of meter could be used. This meant simply that the fortunate owners of that particular meter could put their own price on it and we, the sufferers, have to pay it. Yes, the present Commissioners are all right."

MR. LANHAM SUSTAINED.

The Charges Against Him Dismissed by the Commissioners.

The charges recently preferred against Superintendent Trueman Lanham of the Parking Commission by J. P. O'Neill have been investigated by the Commissioners, and dismissed upon the recommendation of Captain Symons. He referred the matter to the Parking Commission, and they report that Mr. Lanham was selected for the position after a thorough inquiry, and are satisfied with the way he has performed the duties of his office. Relative to the charge that his two sons were "off and on" put on the pay rolls, it is stated that this is only partly true. One boy has during the past three years worked 121 days, for which he received $91.

New Sidewalks at the Capitol.

The terraces at the Capitol are slowly nearing completion. To Washington people the progress made seemingly excites little or no attention, but to the stranger or casual visitor to the city the work makes a profound impression, both as to beauty and utility. The grand stairway impresses the visitor with the magnitude of the undertaking. All concede its architectural appropriateness to the Capitol and in harmonizing the surrounding beauty of its superbly and well-laid out grounds, all of which, when completed, will serve to enhance the imposing appearance and grandeur of the Nation's Capitol building. Beginning yesterday the spaces around and leading to the grand stairway from the statue of Chief Justice Marshall will be laid with the Granolithic pavement. The contract for this work has been awarded by Architect Clark of the Capitol to Mr. H. J. McLaughlin of this city, who laid the pavement in the Monument grounds and around the base of the towering shaft.

A Gambling Establishment Charged.

In the rear of a quiet looking tailoring shop on M street, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets northwest, George J. Jones and a number of friends were indulging in a quiet game of poker, when the police put in an appearance. He was arrested some time ago for keeping a gambling house and his bond was taken. He was charged this morning with keeping a gambling house and an unlicensed bar. He very emphatically assured the Judge that he wasn't keeping a regular gambling house; he only invited a few friends to come and play penny ante once in a while.

Judge Miller sentenced him to four months in jail in addition to the former sentence of sixty days.

Grand Jury Indictments.

The grand jury has found indictments as follows: Henry Landon, gaming; William Davis, jr., horse stealing; Harry D. Darby, robbing the mails; Edw. E. Holland, false pretenses; George Johnson, larceny from the person; Abraham Webster, housebreaking; Michael Doyle, housebreaking, and John H. Brown, housebreaking. They present William J. Miller for embezzlement, and ignore a charge of housebreaking against Alethia Madray.

"Away Up in $C."

The Marine Band of sixty pieces played for the National Rifles' parade last night, and the music cost the Rifles just about one dollar a minute. That looks pretty heavy, but it is first-class music, and it took sixty men to make it. The company was out nearly 250 minutes and the bill was nearly $250.

Building Permits Issued.

Permits were issued by the Building Inspector to-day as follows: George S. Cooper, brick dwelling, 1119 Rhode Island avenue, $6,000; Waring & Cole, two brick dwellings, 105 and 107 O street northwest, $3,200; Harding & Coffin, two brick dwellings, 1100 and 1102 New Hampshire avenue, $7,000.

The Washington Canoe Association met last night at 310 Ninth street. It was to have met last Monday, but at that time the river was flooded and the floating clubhouse inaccessible. A committee was appointed to receive proposals and arrange for getting the club-house back into the water and repairing it. The flood left it high and dry on Analostan Island.

THE NEW INDIAN COMMISSIONER.

Thomas J. Morgan of Rhode Island Appointed.

The President made the following appointments at a late hour yesterday afternoon:

Thomas J. Morgan of Rhode Island, to be Commissioner of Indian Affairs, vice John H. Oberly, resigned.

Hoyt Sherman, jr., of Utah, to be Receiver of Public Moneys at Salt Lake City, Utah, vice George W. Parks, removed.

Frank O. Hobbs of New Haven, Register of the Land Office at Salt Lake City, Utah, vice David Webb, removed.

Edward C. Gattry of Pine City, Minn., Register of the Land Office at Taylor's Falls, Minn., vice Lucas K. Stannard, term expired.

William C. Wells of Alabama, Register of the Land Office at Huntsville, Ala., vice Frank Coleman, to be removed.

Edward L. Chapman of Great Bend, Kan., Receiver of Public Moneys at Larned, Kan., vice Henry M. Bicka, to be removed.

Charles D. Ford of Colorado, Register of the Land Office at Lamar, Col., vice Frank P. Arbuckle, removed.

Colonel Thomas J. Morgan, appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to succeed Mr. Oberly, is between 50 and 55 years of age, and is said to be a man of ability and culture. When the war broke out he resigned his chair as a professor in Franklin College, near Indianapolis, and was made first-lieutenant of the Seventieth Indiana Volunteers, General Harrison's old regiment. When it was decided to organize colored troops in separate regiments he was made colonel of the Fourteenth U. S. Colored Regiment, which became one of the crack colored commands. He was subsequently made brevet brigadier-general, and commanded a brigade of colored troops. Soon after the war he returned to the East, which he had left to take a place in Franklin College. He has since then been connected with educational affairs, and is now president of the State Normal School at Providence, R. I.

The following appointments were announced at the White House to-day:

Charles H. Colburn of Nevada to be Coiner of the Mint of the United States at Carson, Nev.

E. B. Babriskie of Nevada to be Melter and Refiner of the Mint of the United States at Carson, Nev.

SAMOAN AFFAIRS.

The Matter Under Discussion by the Cabinet To-day.

Secretary Blaine was one of the first of the Cabinet Ministers to reach the White House to-day, and in addition to a large blue envelope of the official size he carried in his right hand a work descriptive of the Samoan Islands. This gave rise to the theory that the contents of the big envelope were the article of the treaty recently discussed at Berlin by representatives of this country, England and Germany. The meeting of the Cabinet was not delayed beyond an hour, and was chiefly devoted to a discussion of Samoan affairs. The members of the Cabinet, with the exception of the Postmaster-General, hurried off to their respective Departments; but it is Mr. Wanamaker's day and a number of new postmasters will probably be appointed this afternoon.

Mrs. Harrison has completed all the arrangements for her trip to Cape May, and will probably leave Washington to-morrow afternoon, together with the White House babes and their nurses. Mr. and Mrs. McKee are at Indianapolis, but will go to Deer Park about the middle of the month, where they will be joined by Mrs. Harrison in the course of a week. Private Secretary Halford and his family have vacated their apartments on K street, and will hereafter occupy a residence on Sixteenth street near Scott Circle. At that their plans for the summer are to remain at Washington, which they consider a most desirable resort during the heated term.

NEVER SMILED IN LIFE.

A Remarkable Case Brought to Light in Chicago.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 10.—A most remarkable case was brought to light by the coroner recently during an inquest on the body of an 18-year-old girl, who died Thursday night in a one-room shanty, which served as a home for a widow and her six children. Josephine Gratski, the dead girl, who was the eldest of the family, had never walked a step in her life, she had never seen the light of day, never heard the sound of voices, never uttered an intelligible syllable since the day of her birth and was never known to smile.

She ate what was given her, rejecting nothing, and never making a sign that she desired more. The only feeling that this semi-inanimate creature ever betrayed was when a flower would be placed in her hand. At the time of her death her body was no larger than that of an ordinary 10-year-old child. All her limbs were in proportion, but her knees were drawn up so that she had never been able to walk. What surprised the family and neighbors most was the smile on the face of the dead girl. Her countenance looked like that of a beautiful angel in sweet repose, and the lips were parted in a heavenly smile, though she had never smiled in her life.

The Pace Two Fast For Most of the Pedestrians.

Of the fourteen men who started in a trot in the six-days' go-as-you-please match at Kernan's at a few minutes after midnight Monday morning, but three have stayed. All but Dillon, Horan, Elson, McCarthy, Washburn and Foley tired of the pace before twenty-four hours. At the end of twenty-four hours McCarthy, Washburn and Foley were ruled off the track after having walked 76, 61 and 47 miles, respectively, the terms of the match requiring contestants to walk not less than 80 miles the first day. McCarthy, the plucky Washington boy, was very lame, and it was rumored that he charged some one with poisoning his feet.

The three walkers who are left are good ones, and the old sailor, Elson, trots around the track with an ability to stay that is wonderful. Dillon is the swiftest runner, and if he could continue his gait of the first twenty-four hours would win handily. To-night Archie Sinclair, the English champion amateur, and W. H. Meek, the American champion amateur, will walk a heel-and-toe match.

At 2:40 this afternoon the score was: Dillon, 139 miles 16 laps; Horan, 138 miles 16 laps; Elson, 125 miles 17 laps. The race is now in the hands of these three champions, whose powers of endurance justify the belief that none will leave the track until the 142 hours are completed.

The Pneumatic Gun Carriage.

The eight-inch pneumatic gun carriage, in which a Washington company is interested, was tried yesterday at the Annapolis proving grounds under the direction of the Board of Ordnance and Fortifications of the War Department. With the exception of General Schofield, all the members of the board were present. The carriage worked satisfactorily in every respect, and the test would have been complete had not a portion of the mechanism of the breech of the gun broke. Three rounds, with charges consisting of 125 pounds of powder and 250 of shot, were fired in four and a half minutes. Among those present were the gun carriage board, General Eppa Hunton, Charles E. Creecy, Lieutenant Raymond P. Rogers, T. G. Morrow, W. J. Murtagh, Mr. Cleaver, E. C. Fawcett, William P. Hunt, sr., William P. Hunt, jr., Henry A. Spiller, F. B. Taylor, Spottswood McNeir, Lieutenant Dashiell and Captain Drayton.

The Duke of Portland's Wedding.

LONDON, June 11.—The marriage of the Duke of Portland to Miss Dallas-Yorde took place to-day. The church was crowded with aristocratic guests and the wedding presents were numerous and costly, including gifts from the Prince and Princess of Wales and Lord and Lady Salisbury. The Bishop of Lincoln performed the ceremony.

HOW AGRICULTURAL STATIONS CAN BE BETTER UTILIZED.

The Important Question That is Being Discussed by the American Seed Trade Association Now in Convention at the Arlington.

The men who furnish the seed for the country's gardens are at the Arlington holding their seventh annual meeting. They are organized under the name of the American Seed Trade Association and there are about 150 members. Not over a third of the members were present when the meeting was called to order this morning, but tardy ones are coming on every train and it is expected that on the later days the meetings will be largely attended.

George S. Haskell of Rockford, Ill., is the president of the association and John H. Allan of Picton, Ont., and Herbert W. Johnson of Philadelphia are the first and second vice-presidents. Albert McCulloch of Cincinnati is the secretary and treasurer. Frank T. Emerson of Omaha is assistant secretary and the executive committee is composed of William Meggat, J. Fottler, jr., S. E. Briggs, S. F. Leonard and H. W. Wood.

The association meets every year, and the last meeting was held in Chicago. The question of selecting Washington as the permanent meeting place of the association is being agitated, and a resolution to this end will probably be introduced during the present meeting. The constitution of the association now provides that the executive committee shall select the meeting place each year.

Promptly at 11 o'clock this morning's session was begun.

The minutes of last year's meeting were read, and then Secretary McCulloch read his annual report. Then the names of a dozen or so applicants for membership were read, and the election took till about noon. Each name is balloted on separately, the members writing "Yes" or "No" on pieces of paper and dropping them into the teller's hat. Five adverse votes bars an applicant from membership. After the election, reports of committees were in order. The first of these was of an unpleasant nature. Some time ago the papers told of the departure for Canada of A. B. Cleveland, a New York seedman, and of his previous crookedness in his business methods.

Mr. Cleveland was a member of the Seed Trade Association, and when the committee was called on to report it handled Mr. Cleveland without gloves. And the association has lost a member.

One of the things that the association will devote some time to is Governmental connection with the seed business. The various States have what are called experimental agricultural stations, and the seed growers wish to formulate some plan by which the usefulness of these stations can be increased by which they can co-operate. These State experimental stations are all separate and independent, and do not co-operate with one another. To remedy this and to bring the Agricultural Department into closer and more practical relations with the seed interests is what the association will try and devise some plan to effect. Then, too, they would establish a universal standard of quality for seed. Irresponsible seed men all over the country are offering seeds for sale at ridiculously low prices, but even at more than they are worth, for these seeds won't grow.

This brings the whole trade into disfavor, and to prevent this is one of the objects of the association's meeting. The members think that if the Government would take a hand in the matter the difficulty could be easily remedied. This is another reason why they desire the co-operation of the Agricultural Department. When the meeting opened this morning the Department was unrepresented, but an effort is being made to have Secretary Rusk attend one of the meetings. "When the Agricultural Department is less a political affair and begins the practical work that it could do so well it can be made of great value and assistance to the seed trade and everybody else who is interested in good vegetables, for one can't raise anything good without good seed."

Speaking of the proposition that the association should meet in this city every year, Secretary McCulloch said: "This city is the proper place for such conventions to be held without a doubt. And this being the head centre of the Government's agricultural experiments, it would be a good idea for the seed trade to make it its headquarters. The records of the Government's agricultural work, the Agricultural Department itself and its experimental forms and devices and its seed packing and shipping business combine to make this city interesting to a seed man. A visit to the Agricultural Department is sure to teach a seed man something new about his business."
